PANTERELLIA AND ITALY ARE BOMBED

By PIERRE J. HUSS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, In North Africa, May 14.—The harbor area of the small Italian island of Pantelleria, in the Mediterranean off the coast of liberated Tunisia, has been heavily bombarded by Allied warships, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's headquarters announced today.

New aerial blows against the Italian mainland port of Naples and the harbor of Cagliari, Sardinia, were disclosed at the same time.

The communique announcing the continuing blows against Axis Mediterranean bases declared that not a single German or Italian soldier remains uncaptured in Tunisia following the crushing of Axis armies.

The Pantelleria harbor was successfully bombarded yesterday morning when 20 broadsides were sent screaming into the target area. Some retaliation was attempted by short batteries but fire from these guns was ineffective.

Great Damage

(A Reuter dispatch from Malta said that great damage was inflicted on Pantelleria harbor during the shelling which lasted more than 20 minutes. This dispatch said naval aircraft supported the warships.)

"No Axis forces remain in North Africa who are not prisoners in our hands," Gen. Eisenhower's communique said.

"The last remaining elements surrendered at 11:45 a. m. May 13."

Wellington bombers of the strategic air force carried out the attack on Naples Wednesday night, concentrating their assault on railroad yards and docks. Several fires were started at the much-bombed port.

May Be Planning To Strike At Japs

(Editor's Note: The global strategy, particularly as it applies to the Far East, is discussed in the following article by Major Paul C. Raborg, military analyst and author of "Mechanized Might.")

By MAJOR PAUL C. RABORG

NEW YORK, May 14—The present military conferences taking place in Washington clearly indicate that new global strategy is in the making.

From December 7, 1941, we in the United Nations have been and are faced with two major war theatres—Hitler in the west, Hirohito in the east. Immediately after Pearl Harbor, our supreme command put into effect the planning of global strategy. But in the early days of our war effort, the United States as well as all of the United Nations were faced with the task of doing the best they could with the tools and material at hand.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, May 14.—The American soldier in this war is "just a chip off the old block" and you can take that from a real expert—Brig. Gen. Theodore "Teddy" Roosevelt, Jr.

An outstanding hero in the last war and a formidable figure in this one, the smiling son of America's 26th president is in a position to judge. He barged into headquarters today for only the second time since the whole campaign began and consented to a few minutes' interview in the course of a 24-hour leave from the battlefront.

He was found to be an enthusiastic booster of American doughboys, 1943 model.

"The American soldier in this war," Gen. Roosevelt said of the Yanks who have emerged victoriously from their baptism of fire, "is basically the same as his father was in the last.

NEW COMMAND MAY BE GIVEN TO GEN. WAVELL

By KINGSBURY SMITH
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, May 14—There was talk in some diplomatic quarters in Washington today of the possibility of Field Marshal Sir Archibald P. Wavell, commander-in-chief of British forces in India, being given a new command.

The question of whether he should return to India to direct an autumn offensive against the Japanese or be shifted to the European theatre of operations for the summer campaign against Germany and Italy is believed to be under discussion in the White House talks between President Roosevelt and British Prime Minister Winston Churchill.

If it should be decided to give Wavell a new command, the possibility is seen that he would be succeeded in India by Gen. Sir Claude Auchinleck, former commander of the British Eighth Army in Egypt.

SPARS MAY GET OVERSEAS DUTY

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, May 14.—The Coast Guard's "petticoat" sailors—the SPARS—will be used for overseas service, it was disclosed today, if proper legislation can be secured.

Vice Admiral R. R. Waesche, Coast Guard commandant, testifying before a House appropriations subcommittee, said the Coast Guard needs "female administrative assistants" in Puerto Rico and Alaska.

"There is urgent need at the present time for personnel at shore units in those localities," Waesche declared.

"We want to relieve able-bodied men for sea duty."

"Two torpedo boats of 600 tons each were torpedoed and sunk. There were no casualties among his majesty's ships."

Mandalay Rail Yards Attacked

U. S. Bombers Make Heavy Attack On Rail Lines In Occupied Burma

(International News Service)

NEW DELHI, May 14.—Japanese rail and communication links in occupied Burma lay in ruins thruout key areas today after American fliers had dealt out new punishment in their continuing series of attacks on these objectives.

Railway yards at Mandalay and a rail bridge at Myitnge were principal targets of yesterday's attacks, a communique issued at American army air force headquarters disclosed.

Bombs were observed bursting at the main station in Mandalay and among rolling stock and storage sheds. Violent explosions were followed by huge fires, crew members of medium bombers which carried out the attack reported.

No Planes Lost

A Mitchell formation bombing the Myitnge bridge drove off enemy fighter squadrons without suffering any damage.

No planes were lost in the raids.

British ground forces, meanwhile, were revealed to have withdrawn from the town of Maungdaw in northwestern Burma to take up new positions more suitable for defense. The disclosure was made by the Indian command.

The withdrawal was effected Tuesday night without interference and no contact was made with the enemy, the communique added.

Potatoes Soon To Be Plentiful

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, May 14—Pittsburgh residents, who have been experiencing a potato "famine" the last two weeks, were greatly cheered today by an OPA announcement that spuds will soon be plentiful here again—but they'll have to wait at least another week.

Alabama and Florida growers have agreed to ship new allotments of potatoes to Pittsburgh, and in a little while persons here will be assured of enough spuds for two square meals a day.

Just to dispel any misgivings which might arise from the rosy announcement, the OPA added that this arrangement is "authoritative—you can depend on it."

WARNING SYSTEM GAVE FINE AID TO PLANES IN AFRICA

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, May 14.—Maj. Gen. Dawson Olmstead, chief signal officer of the army, today declared that the signal corps' air raid warning system in North Africa protected American troops from Axis air attacks and contributed immeasurably to "our superior air strength."

General Olmstead recently returned from a 28,000-mile inspection tour of Africa, the Middle East, China, Burma and India.

Throughout his tour, General Olmstead said he found the magnitude of communications requirements far more than he had expected.

VAST AREA OF EUROPE IS HIT

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

LONDON, May 14—An "overwhelmingly intense" new Royal Air Force raid on the industrial Ruhr Valley of Germany was announced by the air ministry today in the wake of devastating aerial assaults upon Berlin and over vast areas of the Nazi-held continent of Europe.

The Ruhr Valley apparently was the chief target, but the Skoda Works at Pilsen, Czechoslovakia and other vital areas were attacked simultaneously.

By CHARLES A. SMITH
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, May 14.—Royal Air Force bombers blasted Berlin last night along with industrial objectives in the Ruhr valley and occupied Czechoslovakia as other formations of British bomber and fighter planes lashed at Nazi-controlled transport lines over a vast area of the continent.

The air ministry announcement of the raid today said that 34 bombers were lost in the attacks.

Round-the-Clock Attacks

The new series of 'round-the-clock bombardments of the continent by British, American and other Allied planes continued in daylight as formations of R.A.F. craft soared across the channel to blast northern France.

Announcement of the loss of 34 planes indicated that upwards of 700 bombers were in operations in the night raids alone.

The initial communique made no mention of specific targets attacked in the Ruhr and in Czechoslovakia but it was believed most likely that

The transmission was filled with hysterical threats of what the sons of Nippon will do to retaliate and most of the announcer's wrath was directed against the hard-hitting "Jiggs" medium bombardment squadron which for the last year has been disrupting enemy installations in a series of more than 80 raids.

LONDON, May 14 — Ships of the British Royal Navy, augmenting Allied assaults on Axis Mediterranean bases, have shelled the small Italian island of Pantelleria, off Tunisia, a Reuter dispatch froom Malta said today.

Broadside after broadside were said to have been sent screaming into the Pantelleria harbor area for more than 20 minutes when the naval vessels attacked yesterday morning.

Great damage was said to have been inflicted.

The bombardment of the war ships was supported with attacks by naval aircraft, the dispatch added.

U. S. Fighters Knock 16 Of 25 Jap Planes Out Of Air —Lose Five

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, May 14—The navy reported today that American bombers had continued raids on Jap installations in the northern Solomons while U. S. fighters, led by the new navy Corsairs, shot down 16 of 25 Jap Zeros in the Russell Islands.

Sixteen Zeros definitely were shot down and two more were probably destroyed, the navy reported, while only five U. S. planes were lost. Two of the American pilots were saved.

On the morning of May 13, a liberator heavy bomber also smashed at Jap installations at Kahili and another Liberator raided Ballale Island in the Shortland Island area. Results of the attacks, however, were not observed.

Bicyclists Must Obey Auto Rules

Chief of Police Willis G. McMullen issued a warning today stating bicyclists must obey all auto regulations here.

"Some operate 'cycles' at night without lights, claiming they cannot secure batteries for lights. Neither can they obtain new legs, arms or lives if lost in an accident," the chief explained.

"One of the worst violations is to carry an extra passenger and others refuse to heed red lights. They should not 'ride against the flow of traffic' and when they do they invite an accident."

The chief explained that some bicyclists have been swerving their 'cycles' and 'cutting in and out' and in fact, many of them, he added, pay no attention to traffic regulations.

Police have been instructed to require them to obey traffic rules.

Gigantic Naval Supply Bill Is Sent To House

Vast Expansions Of U. S. Air And Sea Forces Is Forecasted

OVER 3,000,000 WILL BE IN NAVAL RANKS

By ERWIN D. SIAS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, May 14—Breakage all records, the House Appropriations committee today approved a $27,000,000,000 naval supply bill to finance vast expansions in the air and sea forces and to increase naval, marine and coast guard personnel to more than 3,000,000 officers and men.

In a formal report to the House, the committee expressed itself as "highly elated over the optimism evidenced" in testimony by Secretary of Navy Knox and Admiral King, commander of the fleets, and declared that "the country may have every confidence in the achievement of an unconditional victory across both oceans if the home front continues to do its part."

Different Policy

Noting that the evolution of the airplane bespeaks "a future naval establishment much different than projected or advocated before Pearl Harbor," the committee at the same time disclosed that this nation's overall goal of 185,000 planes by the end of 1943 will not be realized.

"Present indications are that there will be six months' delay in the complete realization of that program, but, even so, it is a wonderful tribute to American industry and to responsible army and navy leaderships," the report stated.

"It is the opinion of our military and naval leadership that production should continue after June 30, 1944, at the maximum production rate obtaining at that time, which will be well over the 1943 calendar yeas objective of 125,000 airplanes."

The huge measure, carrying $27,463,687,198 in cash and $6,604,254,000 in contractual authority, was devoted mainly to personnel and maintenance costs, and ship and plane construction. The money becomes available July 1, and is for the fiscal year following that date.

So urgent did the committee con-

ANOTHER LOCAL HERO DECORATED

Staff Sergeant Nick A. Criscito Of Pennsylvania Avenue Gets Air Medal

Another name has been added to the ever-growing list of New Castle boys who have distinguished themselves for valor and heroism in their combats with the enemy. Among those cited today by the War Department for valor was Staff Sergeant Nick A. Criscito, of 1511 Pennsylvania avenue, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Criscito.

Sgt. Criscito, who is attached to the Eighth Air Force in England, received the air medal for his part in defeating the Axis in action over France and Germany. The Air Medal is given for meritorious achievement in aerial flight.

The local boy enlisted in the air forces of this country in October, 1941, and after a period of training, went overseas last September, since which time, he has been engaged in combat action against the Germans. Sgt. Criscito celebrated his 22nd birthday last January.

ALLIED INVASION OF NORWAY SEEN

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, May 14—President Roosevelt today indicated that an eventual Allied invasion of Norway is a certainty.

In response to a question at his news conference concerning people with whom the United Nations may deal in the conquered countries, the President said that it is impossible to generalize about that subject.

When the Allies go into Norway, he added, there is a perfectly good Norwegian government and king available. This, Mr. Roosevelt added, proves the falsity of any general assertions that the United Nations will deal only with the conquered military leaders of the Axis forces.

The question asked the President was based on a London report that an agreement had been reached among the Allies to deal with conquered generals in the liberated countries rather than with political leaders.

The President emphasized that such generalization is untrue, since the situation may differ in the various territories that are liberated.

Navy Announces U. S. Forces Battling Japanese On Attu

(BULLETIN)
International News Service

WASHINGTON, May 14.—The navy announced today that U. S forces landed on Jap-held Attu Island in the western Aleutians on May 11 and are now battling the enemy forces there.

The navy stated that details of the operation would be released "when the situation clarifies."

The action in which American troops followed up some two and one half months of intensive bombing of enemy positions on the westernmost Aleutian Island came on Tuesday (Wednesday, Tokio time.)

The Navy's terse communique disclosing the action, merely stated:

Navy Announcement

"North Pacific:

"On May 11 U. S. forces landed at the island of Attu in the Aleutians, and are now engaged with Japanese forces on the island. Details of the operation will be released when the situation clarifies."

The one-paragraph Navy announcement came approximately eight hours after the Japanese broadcast that fighting between American and Nipponese forces was underway on the island.

The U. S. units in invading Attu, and island some 20 by 35 miles in size, by-passed and flanked the neighboring Jap-held island of Kiska, which is 172 miles closer to the American mainland.

The invasion was preceded by a ceaseless bombing of both islands since February, the Navy having reported 254 air attacks on the two Jap outposts since early February. Of these raids, 24 had been directed at Attu, the bulk of them coming only after American forces had occupied nearby Amchitka Island in the Aleutians and established a plane base there.

Amchitka Island is only 63 nautical miles from Kiska and approximately 233 from Attu.

No Details Yet

Although the Navy had no details to report on the continuing battle on Attu, information about the Pacific outpost could only indicate that it was of the most difficult character. Attu, located in the Near Island group and about 1,700 miles from Tokyo, is a mountainous spot of land with many bays and inlets.

Some of the mountains rise to 3,000 feet and would stand as a physical barrier to extensive inland operations. Numerous offshore rocks

Enemy Lost 2,000 Planes In Tunisia

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, May 14—The U. S. Army Air Forces and Britain's R.A.F. in North Africa destroyed approximately 2,000 enemy planes and lost about 770—an approximate ratio of three to one—from November 8, 1942, to May 11, 1943, the War department disclosed today.

In a report on Allied air activity in the Tupisian campaign, the department asserted that American and British airmen, under the command of air chief marshal Sir Arthur W. Tedder, attained overwhelming air superiority in the final phase of the North African battle.

Some Abatement Of Taxes Favored

WASHINGTON, May 14—The Senate today indicated that it favors abatement of some individual income taxes in order to establish a pay-as-you-go system in the first test vote in the battle over the Ruml bill.

MOSCOW, May 14—Russian and German big guns today continued to blaze away in a tremendous artillery duel northeast of Novorissisk, Nazi-held Black sea naval base.

Today's midday Russian communique said several dozen more Nazi blockhouses and pillboxes were demolished by heavy fire from red army artillery.

The Russian air assaults are designed to hamper Nazi preparations for an expected offensive.

PITTSBURGH, May 14—An average of 25 Pittsburgh housewives lose their ration books daily, according to reports of losses filed with the district OPA office here.

He said losing a ration book, however, doesn't compel the housewife and her family to starve. Instead, a second book is issued if the OPA is satisfied the original booklet actually strayed and the woman signs an affidavit to that effect.

Find Two Bodies In Parker Auto

Double Tragedy Is Blamed On Ambridge Man By Police Officials

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, May 14.—The girl "he couldn't break away from" was united forever in death with Patrick J. Napolitan, 40-year-old married man and father of two teen-aged boys, whom police say shot to death beautiful, dark-haired Elinor Knauff, 22, of nearby Avalon, and then committed suicide.

The bullet-riddled bodies of the couple were found late yesterday by Constable Clarence W. Profater slumped in the front seat of Napolitan's automobile parked on a deserted road in Sewickley township, suburban Pittsburgh.

In Napolitan's coat pocket police found a note addressed to his wife Leota, 37, in which he confessed his inability to stay away from the vivacious brunette whom he met three months ago when she came to work in a paint shop across the street from his Ambridge tobacco store.

"No Way Out"

"I have been fighting this for a month, but there is no way out," the letter read. . . . "I have been trying to stay away from her but we have been together every chance we could. So this is the end." It was signed "Your Damn Fool Husband."

The Knauff girl, a twin renowned in Avalon for her beauty, was discovered lying on the floor of the front seat in the tobacconist's car with her head and arms resting on the cushioned seat. She was shot in the chest, abdomen and stomach.

Beside the girl slumped Napolitan with a gaping bullet hole in his left temple. A .32 calibre gun was lying at the fingertips of the man's left hand. Police say he undoubtedly shot the girl and then turned the gun on himself.

Napolitan's wife broke down when she learned of the double death. She told detectives she knew her husband was "going with" Elinor for three months and that she offered to get a divorce. The younger girl told her, however, she "didn't want Pat" and promised not to see Napolitan again.

MAY BE PLANNING TO STRIKE AT JAPS

could be shipped to the seven corners of the far flung earth. But we have still been short on the required sea tonnage.

The world of the United Nations has assumed that Hitler's final defeat will be pressed to a finish before 100 per cent attention was devoted to the destruction of Hirohito, his general staff, and his armed forces. In this assumption they may have been right or they may have been wrong. But every future battle plan is, has been, and must be predicated on the available merchant ship transportation.

The transports of the democracies have had to travel around great continental bulges to the far north—Russia, and the far south—the Cape of Good Hope Africa, because the bottleneck of the Mediterranean. As of 8:15 p. m. African time, May 12th, 1943, that bottleneck has been permanently opened. The effect may double or treble the carrying capacity of the merchant marine of the United nations. This is the greatest strategic result of the war to date.

New Program Likely

Now some observers have believed that the Anglo-American invasion of Africa was originated so that Europe could be invaded from the south.

Others have been of the opinion that the recent operations of the 18th army group in North Africa were for the major purpose of opening up the east-west water sea routes of the world by driving the Axis armed forces out of Africa. But very few have figured that, when these east-west sea routes were opened again, the democracies might then be able to devote full attention to both of the major east and west areas of combat.

No layman observer should know the answer to these problems. For the same old reason that if they did, the enemy would know. And if the enemy knew, our amazingly successful global strategy could be defeated.

But this much becomes absolutely apparent as of today. Due to the wonderful United Nations victory in North Africa, our shipping capacity will be so much increased, due to shorter hauls, that, first of all, Hitler's submarine offensive may be defeated. Secondly, this increased shipping capacity is going to make it quite possible for the supreme command immediately to devote much more attention to the final destruction of Hitler and to his companion in crime—Hirohito in the Far East.

certain set of principles and has his mind made up, just like his father, who had a firm set of principles too. He is fighting because his country is in danger. So did his father.

Fights For Country

"The American boy doesn't want to fight just for the love of fighting. But when his country is threatened he is willing and ready to jump into battle."

Tanned by the North African sun, Gen. Roosevelt made a striking figure in his smart uniform. He was more than anxious to talk in praise of the youngsters who put to route the best troops in Adolf Hitler's war machine.

"I have talked to these kids just as I talked to my own buddies 25 years ago," Gen. Roosevelt said.

"I have found one thing common among them—an outspoken love for America.

"And again, just like his father, he wants to get this job over with and get back to 'God's country'.

"Maybe it's because I am of Dutch ancestry that I like comparing the American soldier to the Dutch. They are a really peaceful people who never want to fight. But once their toes are stepped on they are ready to pitch in. Americans are the same way. You can't tread on them."

Gen. Roosevelt recalled with a chuckle the now historic story of a staff officer who asked a private where the front line was and received the answer: "You're standing on it right now."

"That's what I want," he said. "They're not afraid to speak up."

The American fighting man, Gen. Roosevelt said, "has earned a couple of big things out of this North African campaign."

"He has learned that the German soldier is no superman and can be licked," he said. "And the American soldier is determined to give him that licking."

NAVY ANNOUNCES U. S. FORCES ARE BATTLING JAPANESE ON ATTU

and reefs make navigation in its surrounding waters a treacherous business, at best.

The island's two main waterways are Chichagof harbor on the north coast, and Sarana Bay on the northeast coast. Attu village is located at the head of Chicagof harbor.

Jap Landing Year Ago

It was almost a year ago that the Navy on June 12, 1942, announced that the Japs had made landings "on a small scale" on Attu Island and that several enemy ships had been sighted in Kiska harbor.

Then on July 4 last year a Navy communique reported that three Jap transports had been sighted off Agattu Island, 35 miles southeast of Attu. Thus the Japs obtained three vital Aleutian bases following their raid in early June on Dutch Harbor, one phase of a two-pronged campaign which also was marked by the Midway Island invasion attempt.

The last surface action in the vicinity of Attu occurred on March 26 when a U. S. patrol force of one light cruiser, one heavy cruiser and four destroyers battled for three and a half hours with a superior Japanese force of two heavy cruisers, two light cruisers, six destroyers and two transports. The action broke off with our units suffering only minor damage w[illegible] shell hits were scored on both the Jap heavy cruisers and on one of the light cruisers.

The Japs evidently were attempting to reinforce their installations on Attu and Kiska.

On February 18 and on April 24, U. S. surface forces also had bombarded Attu, but the bulk of the damage inflicted on the enemy base in recent weeks has come from the almost daily stream of bombers and fighters who have gone out from Amchitka to hit the two points.

Domination of the invaded isle of Attu in the western Aleutians will place American bombers within 630 miles of the big northern Japanese naval base on Paramushiru Island and within 1,700 miles of Tokyo itself.

Acquisition of Attu also would enable U. S. forces to flank neighboring Kiska where the Japs then could be bombed and starved into submission through control of enemy supply lines.

YANK AIR RAIDS GIVE JAPS JITTERS

question got a big kick out of the broadcast and the price placed on their heads.

To date, the Japanese transmissions have paid little notice to the newly-arrived American Liberators, apparently because they do not want the people at home to know that heavy bombers capable of menacing the island empire itself now are operating out of Chinese bases.

Today's broadcast was but the latest in a series of nightly transmissions which have followed the Hainan raid, with Tokyo blaring threats against the Americans and boasting that they will destroy all Chinese airfields and raze the nation's leading cities, including Chungking and Kunming.

But the American fighter and bomber pilots merely shrug off the threats with a terse "Let 'em come!"

GIGANTIC NAVAL SUPPLY BILL IS SENT TO CONGRESS

sider the present proposed landing-barge and small-craft program which has not yet been authorized by congress, that it voted $94,120,000 for such construction subject to enactment of the proper legislation.

Largest item in the bill was $7,-918, 120, 000 for increase and replacement of naval vessels. For aviation the committee voted $4,583,-725,000; for supplies and pay, $4,-278,573,984; and for ordnance, $3,-476,800,000.

In discussing the funds for personnel, the report said that for the navy, marine corps and coast guard, "the combined 1944 ceilings are 250,480 officers (male), 2,691,060 men, and 90,400 women (officers and enlisted), excluding 8,500 nurses."

BOMBERS BLAST BERLIN AND RUHR VALLEY IN RAIDS

over the latter territory the R.A.F. loosed its bombs on Pilsen, site of the huge Skoda armaments works.

Text of the air ministry announcement said:

"Bomber command aircraft were out again in very great strength last night.

"Targets in the central Ruhr and Czechoslovakia were attacked. Bombs were also dropped on Berlin.

"Detailed reports are not yet available. Thirty-four of our bombers are missing."

Weather Better

Improved weather enabled the R.A.F. and American Air Force to resume their series of terrific aerial assaults to soften up the continent for invasion. The new cycle began with the R.A.F. raid on Duisburg, heaviest in history, and was highlighted yesterday when American Flying Fortresses carried out their most formidable assault to date against Meault and St. Omer in northern France.

In a retaliatory raid the Nazi Air Force struck at points in East Anglia. Considerable damage was done to shops, offices, two churches, a restaurant, a hotel and workmen's dwellings in a short, concentrated attack on one town, identified in a German broadcast as Chelmsford. Several persons were killed. Two raiders were shot down.

The attack on Berlin was the 62nd by the R.A.F. on the Nazi capital which last was assaulted on April 20 when speedy Mosquito bombers smashed explosives on the Wilhelmstrasse to celebrate Hitler's birthday.

The heaviest raid on Berlin was made March 27 last when about 900 tons of bombs were dropped. Preliminary indications were that last night's raid on the capital of Nazidom was more in the nature of a "demonstration raid" than an assault in force.

Czechoslovakia last was bombarded on the night of April 6 when four-motored Lancasters and Halifaxes in great force battered the Skoda works at Pilsen.

Cross-Channel Sorties

Perfect weather enabled the R.A.F. to follow up the widespread night assaults with numerous cross-channel sorties today.

Shortly after mid-day the continuing air assaults reached a peak when a great force of planes roared across the Dover Straits in sunshine at a great height in the direction of Calais.

The Allied craft flew in perfect formations and glittered in the bright sunshine. It was impossible for observers along the coasts to determine the types but the roar of engines indicated that possibly heavy bombers were among the daylight raiders. Observers at Folkestone said the squadrons made up one of the greatest formations witnessed in recent times.

All morning residents of the southeast coast heard bomb crashes at frequent intervals and these blasts were punctuated by anti-aircraft fire. The explosions emanated from the Boulogne area. A low haze hid the French coast.

ALL AXIS FORCES IN TUNISIA NOW TAKEN BY ALLIES

and several others were left burning when strong forces of both heavy and medium bombers, with fighter escort, attacked the harbor and industrial area of Cagliari.

"Bursts were seen in the railroad yards and industrial areas and many large fires were started," the communique said.

"During the course of this attack nine enemy aircraft were destroyed."

Only one allied plane is reported missing from all operations.

Axis Tries New Attack In Air

Headquarters revealed that Axis aircraft last night attempted a second successive bombing of the Algiers area. Five of the attacking craft were destroyed by allied defense forces and the remainder of the enemy planes were driven off. The raiders caused no casualties and did no damage.

In the Wednesday night Axis attempt to bomb Algiers, it was announced, five planes also were destroyed.

Axis captives in Tunisia, including their commander, Col. Gen. Jurgen von Arnim, were being routed meanwhile to permanent internment camps. The total of Germans and Italians taken prisoner neared the 175,000 mark.

In allied headquarters where the best military minds mapped the Axis doom in North Africa the visible fruits of victory were seen today in unmistakable form as the first crop of Axis generals, including Von Arnim himself, were brought from the smoking battlefields.

These constituted the first victims to fall into allied hands under the "unconditional surrender" edict proclaimed at Casablanca.

Rommel In "Run-Out"

Four-star to single-star generals, braided admirals, air force chiefs, officers of all ranks and privates got an eyefull they will never forget in this batch of Hitler's military brain trust seized in North Africa.

A glimpse at this forlorn group instinctively suggests that Nazi Field Marshal Erwin Rommel may have left Tunisia "A. W. O. L." when he surmised what was in the wind a couple of months ago and decided the jig was up. He conveniently "got sick"—apparently with Hitler's consent—and left the high command generals in the lurch to sneak off to Berlin.

This is not the first time that the glorified Hitler favorite has pulled that sort of trick, but this time retribution caught up with Hitler—it is the first time that vaunted units of the German army surrendered in mass form. In fact, it must be galling to Hitler to hear the descriptive allied reports on how entire German divisions and complete units of other armed forces, with tons of food, munitions, equipment and stocks, disregarded Berlin's orders to fire to the last shot and gave up.

New Castle streets have benefitted by the excessive rains of the spring. Most of them are washed clean, and present a spic and span appearance. There is little hauling of a kind that tends to litter them, so that they should remain clean for a long period.

ARTILLERY DUEL AT NOVOROSSISK

Moscow-Rostov rail line, vital to the movement of Russian troops and equipment.

The communique telling of the artillery duel in the Novorissisk area said Russian anti-aircraft fire and planes of the Soviet air force downed 11 German aircraft in the same Kuban delta area.

The midnight communique said four other German planes were downed by anti-aircraft fire in the same theater and Russian artillery northeast of Novorissisk silenced 54 Nazi machine-gun nests, 19 artillery and five mortar batteries, and smashed many enemy blockhouses.

Active operations also continue in the Lisichansk sector of the Donets basin front. The midday report said the Russians here improved their positions after repelling several counter-attacks in which 400 Germans were slain and much war materiel seized in bitter fighting yesterday.

On the central front, west of Moscow, Soviet forces today slew hundreds of Nazis and red airmen smashed 40 railroad trucks.

West of Rostov, on the southern front, Russian artillery attacked an enemy supply train, destroying and damaging 100 wagons.

Two transports and two minesweepers were reported sunk today in the Barents sea by Russian airmen.

REAL FORECAST OF ADOLF'S FINISH

WATCHING the news of the almost incredible submission of Nazi soldiers in Tunisia by the tens of thousands—Hitler's finest and Goering's own—the Fuehrer's shift of base from the Russian East front to the seething West is quite understandable. What happened on Cape Bon is the jolt to German morale even Stalingrad didn't give.

Capture of General von Arnim, previously reported in Berlin, though important, actually pales in significance beside the collapse of the armies he and Rommel commanded.

Veteran press reporters were flabbergasted at the sight of vast numbers of Nazi soldiery driving themselves in their own vehicles without escort to Allied barbed-wire stockades as fast as they could get there.

What's the answer? These men are not cowards. They've fought too well all across Africa and up through Tunisia to admit of such a theory. They are fed up.

This wholesale crumbling of the will to fight, ominously reminiscent of 1918, raises that spectre in a big way for Adolf, who has repeatedly sworn it could never happen again. From now on it's one of the gravest problems on his long list.

It does not mean that when the Allied onslaught upon Hitler's European fortress gets going resistance will melt away. Far from it. But Tunisia provides a preview of that inevitable end, provided we go the limit in fighting and producing weapons. A hundred thousand elite Nazi soldiers and more have quit cold on the idea of dying for Adolf. Wait till the full significance of that gets back home.

NET INCOME DROPS

Prodigious as war production has been, it is not accompanied by a general advance in net income among the main manufacturing industries, but—with few exceptions—by a decline.

An examination of the reports of 817 corporations demonstrates that the drop in total net income was approximately 15 per cent. The reasons for this reduction of profit with an increase in business are two: Heavier taxes, and higher operating costs.

In analyzing this result the industries were divided into six groups. In group one, including steel and railroad equipment, the drop in net income in 1942 over 1941 was 15 per cent. In group two (paper, chemicals and glass containers) the drop was 20 per cent. Group three, including shipbuilding, automobile manufacture, aircraft and rubber, was off 16 per cent.

Six of the larger aviation companies dropped in net income 5 per cent, nine of the smaller aircraft companies advanced 21 per cent.

Group four, including electrical manufacturing, home appliances, office equipment, registered an 18 per cent decline. Group five—foods, textiles, leather, drugs and tobacco—held the decline in earnings to 7 per cent.

Petroleum and mining industries, comprising group six, registered a 12 per cent decline in earnings from 1941. In 1942 the net income of 25 oil companies aggregated $203,421,000, compared with $237,287,000 in 1941.

TREND TO BE REVERSED

"After the war," says a booklet issued by the American Defense Society, "one of the great problems the nation must face is the resumption of authority by the several states and the return to each state of its constitutional power over its internal affairs."

That viewpoint has been expressed recently by many governors and other leaders who, though conceding the need for some centralization of administrative authority in time of war, are nevertheless concerned over the possibility of a continuation of such federalism throughout the post-war period.

The current trend was initiated long before the war, when the states and municipalities accepted national aid in the solution of the unemployment problem. It was markedly accentuated immediately after Pearl Harbor. As matters now stand, Washington is the seat of governmental control with respect to nearly all activities of individual citizens.

This clearly runs counter to the good old American traditions of state rights and personal independence. As soon as the war comes to an end, there should be a restoration of the dignity and authority of the states and a return to the ideal of individual liberty.

That is the only way in which the Republic can be safeguarded in fact as well as in name. Any man who advocates continuance of wartime regimentation after the war is against the best interest of the nation.

WAR TURN CAUSES NEAR NAZI PANIC

There was a time—it is hard to realize that it is past—when the facade of Nazi imperturbability under the stress of war was as hard as the steel of a howitzer. This is no longer true. The Nazis are not men of iron, after all. They are of flesh and blood, vulnerable to the pains, the fears, the hopes that stir in the breasts of human beings. This is demonstrated by the grip of panic that has taken hold of the Nazis.

Reports from Istanbul are to the effect that the Germans have cut communications between Greece and the outside world and that Nazi occupation authorities have warned that if they are compelled to abandon Greece they will leave the country in ruins. Terror reigns and the jails are overflowing with insurgents.

A somewhat comparable situation exists in Holland where martial law has been declared and thousands of arrests have been made in an effort to stem the rising tide of resistance. Drastic restrictions are being clamped on the population and Dutch tension, according to reports, is rising.

Not the least significant of European developments is the renewal of Hitler stooge Franco's appeal to the warring nations—Allied and Axis alike—to lay down their arms and seek peace. This gesture may safely be interpreted as a reflection of the desperation of Germany's position.

Franco was set up in business by Hitler and Mussolini and it follows logically that this new bid for peace, made at a time when Germany's military fortunes are on the wane, is initiated at the instigation of Hitler and is designed to save Franco's fellow-barbarians from the retribution which they have so richly earned.

All of these evidences of panic and terror in the Axis high command are heartening. They prove that the old supreme confidence in Nazi invincibility has disappeared, which is a psychological victory as vital as a victory achieved on the battlefield.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

HELP WORKING MOTHER'S CHILD

Many of the thousands of mothers of growing children now employed in war industries and other fields know it is very hard to be as good mothers as they would like to be.

They come home tired from the day's work to what amounts to another day's work awaiting them. Being tired and encumbered with so many cares of the house and family, they can't find the time to relax and be companionable. Indeed, they may often feel irritable and, in spite of their efforts to the contrary, act irritably.

Some considerate husbands turn in and help the mother and this added care may weary them. Yet they can hardly have a small proportion of the nervous strain the mother bears. What man senses the countless pressing matters about the house so obvious and overwhelming to the mother who has been away at work all day?

It is fortunate for the working mother if her younger children have learned to wait on themselves and the older ones to take responsibilities about the home, cheerfully helping her as much as they are able. There are remarkable children of working mother, who come home promptly from school, tidy the house and prepare the evening meal. Such children not only ease their mother's load and enable her to be more calm and companionable in the evening, but they also gain an education in good character and citizenship.

The school-age child who is dependable in conduct and shoulders responsibility during the absence or presence of the working mother may actually profit from her being employed. It affords the child the opportunity to cultivate self-reliance and responsibility he otherwise might not have.

But woe unto the many more children of working mothers who have not been trained in good conduct, self-reliance and responsibility, who take advantage of the mother's absence to do many things they know they shouldn't and to escape doing jobs at home they know they should.

Here and there one learns of a community effort to provide protective play centers, something like day nurseries for the child from about 6 to 14, for the hours after school till the mother returns from work. This should be the concern of civic-minded citizens.

Solving Parent Problems

Q. Would you expect a child in high school to take responsibility for telephoning his home in case he knew he would arrive home far later than his usual time.

A. Yes; this responsibility of keeping the home informed of where he is should be cultivated early and constantly.

Q. What is the matter with the adolescent boy or girl who is ashamed of the material things of his home?

A. His parents probably have made too many sacrifices for him and have been too apologetic to other people about what they have.

"It is a busy life we lead.

Nor can I do my household tasks
So many questions Willie asks."

SPEAKING WITHOUT INTRODUCTION

"Recently, I attended a wedding reception, at which I knew only the bride, the bridegroom and the bride's mother. The bride introduced me to those in the receiving line and her mother introduced me to the groom's mother, etc., standing nearby. However, I found myself seated beside strangers to whom I had never been introduced. I talked to them, nevertheless. Shouldn't I have been introduced to all those present? Was it proper for me to talk to them without being introduced?"—M.I.M.

Answer: At a very large party, it is impossible for one to be introduced to all present, so you are free to talk with all those who show inclination to be friendly and beside whom you find yourself seated. At a large dinner party or wedding reception, it is essential that you speak to those seated on either side of you, even though you have not met. It is customary, however, for those seated together at dinner to be introduced before going to the dining room. At a small gathering, general introductions are made. If, in a future situation such as the one in which you found yourself, the stranger to whom you speak answers briefly suggesting disinterest in conversation you had better turn your attentions elsewhere. Some people are very friendly and like to talk to everyone; others are restrained and aloof. You did the correct thing in talking to friendly guests seated near you.

Question: Are the words: Vice president, vice admiral, vice consul correctly written with or without the hyphen? Also what of son in law and daughter in law?—Anon.

Answer: Most titles beginning with "vice" are written without or with the hyphen. When no hyphen is used, however, the words are separated, for instance: Vice admiral, vice president, vice consul. Son-in-law and daughter-in-law must be hyphenated. This applies to all words made up of nouns and prepositional phrases.

THE APE

The side show attached to the small circus boasted among its principal attractions a man-eating ape, alleged to be the largest in captivity. This ferocious beast was exhibited chained to a dead trunk of a tree. Early in the day of the show's first performance in a certain downstate village, a farmer handed the man-eating ape a piece of tobacco, in the chewing of which the beast evinced the greatest satisfaction.

The word was soon passed around town that the ape would chew tobacco; and the result was that several plugs were thrown at him. Unhappily, however, the village cut-up had prepared one of these with cayenne pepper. The man-eating ape bit it; then, howling with indignation, snapped the chain that bound him to the tree, and made straight for the practical joker who had so cruelly deceived him.

"Lave he at 'im!" yelled the ape. "Lave me at 'im, the dirty hick! I'll have the rube's life, or me name ain't Magillicuddy!"

Earl Browder Takes A Crack At Lewis Springs Surpise With Attack On John Communist Leader's Oratory Is Welcome

By CHARLES P. STEWART
(Central Press Columnist)

WOULDN'T one naturally expect an individual with a conspicuously Communistic reputation to indorse the policy of a labor leader who upholds the right of a big industrial union's membership to strike, if necessary, for fair wages.

That was John L. Lewis' claim in behalf of his mine workers' organization.

His account was that living costs were going upward but that the miners' pay was not being advanced correspondingly or likely to do so, because of an unworkable presidential order governing wage control.

The merits of his contention are not the issue concerning Communistic comment relative to his position upon the coal diggers' right to strike, war or no war, to enforce their demand. But who would have supposed an outstanding Communist would be among the bitterest critics of John L., for insisting on the legitimacy of a resort to strike tactics despite the urgency of world hostilities' requirements today?

Nevertheless, Earl Browder, Communist party leader in the United States, is ferocious in his renunciation of the miners' chief spokesman for enunciating such a doctrine. "Unless labor decisively settles accounts with Lewis," Earl told a recent mass meeting in St. Louis, "he will yet loose an explosion of class struggles that will ruin the war effort by the United Nations, with disaster for all labor."

Of course, Browder's logic may be sound enough, but doesn't it come peculiarly as an anti-strike warning, from so proletarian an orator as the foremost Communist in our midst?

To be sure, it is quite explicable.

Earl is speaking, not for democracy but for Communism. Labor and Communism are the same thing to him.

If there were no Communists in the war, he undoubtedly would have indorsed John L. Lewis' thesis that the workers are entitled to strike unless accorded what they want in their pay envelopes. That is because he is pro-labor, above everything else except the Communist doctrine. John, however, is not a Communist, but a labor leader only. Earl, being a mixture of the two, holds that John's reasoning is wrong, from his own joint standpoint.

The betting is good that, if Russia were not in the war, he would have sympathized with John. He expressed himself as a Communistic pro-laborite until the Nazis attacked the Soviets. The minute his fellow Communists were involved, he yearned to have them win, no matter with whose help and he certainly objects to having their chances jeopardized by labor trouble here or elsewhere.

The situation just illustrates how difficult it is for anyone to determine what side he IS on in the pending conflict.

It is true of the United Nations and all their leaderships, as well as of Earl Browder. Illustratively, this country was an anti-Communistic as possible until Herr Hitler launched his attack against the Soviets. Indeed, we were trying to deport Earl shortly before that juncture. Now his oratory is extremely welcome to a lot of us, in opposition to John L.'s pro-laboritiveness.

Russia was not pro-us, either.

If anything, it was slightly pro-Nazi. At present it is negotiating with us, with a view to a mutually more helpful alliance. We would like to have Premier Stalin visit Washington. If that cannot be arranged, there is talk of a Roosevelt visit to the Kremlin.

Earl Browder might be useful in a way.

His deportation no longer is urged governmentally. John L. Lewis might be inclined to fire him overseas if possible, but it would not be generally popular—not if he can stave off a Yankee workers' clash with our federal labor agencies.

EARS

It seems too bad that our ears must hear so much trash. If we could wash away words like we do dirt, it might be better.

We could perhaps take better care of our ears. Colds are a common cause of ear trouble.

Blowing the nose too hard doesn't help the ears any. Keep away from coughers and blowers.

If the youngster gets pain in the ear, see the doctor. Wash the ears with soap and water. Use the fingers or a wash cloth.

Do not poke the ears with hair pins or tooth picks. Do not swab out baby's ears with tooth picks.

Many a person becomes deaf in later years because his ears were neglected in childhood.

A painful ear needs the doctor.

A running ear does too.

If Grandma has a cold she should stay away from the baby. This holds good for Aunt Mary and everybody else.

There ought to be a law against kissing babies. It wouldn't do much good.

While baby is in the hospital even Dad has to look at it through a window pane.

After a few months Uncle John gives baby an $11 gold piece or a rattle to cut his teeth on. Uncle has a bad cold. He keeps the gold piece in the same pocket with his handkerchief. Baby gets a cold and a running ear. Forty years later he is deaf. Poor little baby.

When raw material for war is needlessly sent 2000 miles to be processed, Big Business is getting its cut at the expense of the boys who are fighting.

The World and the Mud Puddles

MORE ABOUT "RELIEF"

The point of the social security board's survey, it seems, is that which the administration came to regard as "normal" relief cost us an average of two and one-half billion dollars a year. After the war, burdened by a debt that may well be as high as five hundred billions, can we hope to maintain such a relief program over and above routine governmental cost and at the same time pay interest on and provide for reduction of the debt? The people of the United States are going to be sway-backed under the load of interest on the debt alone, and the addition of high relief expenditures easily could break down the whole American economy.

There is just one reasonable answer to the dilemma, and that is to plan now for a post-war America which will not require huge expenditures for relief. It can be done. Industry and business already are thinking ahead in terms of post-war products and quick conversion, and a large segment of Congress appears to be in agreement that only full private employment can cope with the perilous economic situation that will reach its crisis after the war.

But there is one very grave danger, and that is the attitude of the administration. President Roosevelt has praised private enterprise in one breath, then devoted the next to the assertion that the government must be prepared with gigantic blueprints of made work. The national resources planning board has prepared, at the executive's direction, a vast nebulous plan which would, in effect, make every citizen a ward of the government. To such a policy applied in Italy, Germany or Russia, however, we call the citizens slaves, rather than wards.

Because the administration's strength depends to a large extent upon those who have received government largesse, we can expect no relaxation of this "back to the new deal" planning for post-war America. The administration can be expected to fight for a retention and even an expansion of relief spending as a purely political measure. To fight back may not always be easy. Business and industry may be fettered, as they have before, so that they are unable to function fully and thereby obviate so that all can see, the necessity for relief.

In the final analysis, the people themselves will have to decide through their expressions of opinion and through the men for whom they vote, whether the United States shall continue multi-billion dollar relief, until the breaking point is reached, or whether the nation shall put an end to this Socialistic-Communistic New Deal spending.

Looking At Life

By ERICH BRANDEIS

A seventy-eight year old Chicago man (whose first and middle name, by the way, are Abraham Lincoln) has asked the court for a divorce from his sixty-six year old wife whom he married fifty-one years ago.

He explained that he wanted to marry another girl (78 years old) with whom he had been in love for many years.

When the judge expressed his astonishment at such a strange affair, the plaintiff stated that he would have divorced his wife a long time ago, but that he had promised her to wait until all the children had grown up.

And, he said, since the youngest child is now 38 years old, he could not see any reason for waiting any longer.

The judge agreed, granted the divorce and wished all of the parties concerned good luck and happiness.

Wouldn't you think that after more than a half century of married life two people would like to spend the remaining hours together?

Wouldn't you think that after fifty years of living together there'd be so many memories, so many recollections of stops on the journey through life that each of them would be a link to bind them?

The longer I am married the more I like marriage.

With each year the bonds grow stronger, with each year a new chapter is added to our book of life.

I am sure I am not as handsome as I was twenty years ago. But thank heaven, my wife is still jealous of me.

The early bloom of youth has given way to the dignity of womanhood in her. But to me that dignity is beautiful and underneath the girl whom I loved is still there.

Love grows with every year—and with every year that love becomes more peaceful, more profound, and more enduring.

When I am seventy-eight and still alive, no brazen vixen of 78 can entice me away from my old lady (which she will then be).

I want her to be with me when the last chapter is written.

Czecho-Slovakia Nation Will Rise Again Says Benes

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, May 14—President Eduard Benes of Czechoslovakia told the American senate Thursday that his liberty-loving nation will rise again after it has been freed from the heel of Nazi conquerers.

Amid vigorous applause from senators and other distinguished guests Dr. Benes declared his confidence in an overwhelming victory for the United Nations in the war against the Axis countries.

He described Czechoslovakia as the "godchild" of the United States because it reached nation-hood after the first world war.

"The entire Czechoslovak nation expresses its warmest thanks and gratitude to the great American people, not only for all that they have done on behalf of Czechslovakia, but also for the enormous and outstanding contribution of your great country to the war effort of all the United Nations," he said.

"They do not doubt that this great struggle, in which the United States are playing so decisive a role, will end with one of the greatest victories in your and our national annals.

"As President Masaryk in 1918, I, today, feel authorized to declare on behalf of my nation, here in the Washington capitol, that after the final victory in this great war is achieved, the Czechoslovak nation will reconstruct its old home rapidly and successfully by its untiring efforts, remaining faithful—as it always was during the difficult period of its long, checkered and glorious history—to the democratic way of life, ... considering itself again the godchild of the great and glorious republic of the United States."

State Guardsmen To Train In Camp

Local Unit Will Have Eight Days Of Training At Indiantown Gap

Members of the Pennsylvania State Guard, the supply company of which is located in New Castle and commanded by Capt. Frank W. Hill, will train at the Indiantown Gap military reservation during the period from July 31 to August 21, Capt. Hill has been informed by Adjutant General Robert M. Vail.

Training, designed to whip the State Guard into an effective "home guard", will be prescribed, General Vail has announced. Each regiment will receive eight days of intensive training. While the guard will occupy the camp simultaneously with Army troops, no combined training program is planned, it is stated.

ADD TENTH MAN TO BOMBER CREW

(International News Service)

DAVIS-MONTHAN FIELD, Tucson, Ariz., May 14—Something new has been added to the B-24, America's enormous Liberator bomber. That something is an additional waist gunner which brings the B-24 crew up from nine to a total of ten highly specialized, highly trained flying soldiers.

"We've added an additional gunner to the crew because the Jap Zeroes don't always come in from the same side," explained young Lt. Col. Horace D. Aynesworth of Amarillo, Texas, who has just returned from Africa.

"One gunner just couldn't keep the two waist guns going" he explained to the newspaper correspondents who have now reached the great open spaces on their coast-to-coast tour of outstanding army posts.

Detachable Motors Tried On Gliders

(International News Service)

MINNEAPOLIS, May 14.—Army representatives were impressed today by the possibilities of a new army troop transport glider powered with detachable motors, following its first official test at the Wold-Chamberlain field in Minneapolis.

Piloted by Col. Fred Dent of Wright Field, Dayton, O., the glider first was towed behind an army transport. It circled the field after being detached, landed and then took off for another flight under the power of two light and relatively inexpensive motors.

Northwest Airlines officials, under whose supervision the gliders are being constructed, said the value of the detachable motors is a saving of transportation costs and the possibility of using the low cost craft for invasion parties.

PREPARING FOR HONOR ROLL

Bases are being installed at the corner of East Washington street and Court street, on the court house lawn, to support the honor roll board which will be placed there in a few days. The board will contain the names of men and women who died in the armed forces of the nation in the present war. Those reported missing in action will also be included in the list. The board will be dedicated on Memorial Day.

The first wooden toothpicks were made by Charles Foster of Maine, who started their manufacture in 1860. Approximately 7,500,000 board feet of birch from Maine, Vermont, Wisconsin and Minnesota are used annually for their manufacture.

Synthetic Rubber Production Will Be Stupendous

(International News Service)

BOSTON, May 14.—United States synthetic rubber production in less than four years will have reached an annual production equal to the world production of natural rubber in 1939, Albert E. Marshall, president of a Rhode Island chemical works, declared Thursday.

Addressing 500 New England industrialists and business leaders Marshall cited examples of changes which will affect industry when they begin to return to normal operations and said the value of aircraft produced in the United States last year equalled that of automobiles in their best year.

"And this year aircraft will lead all industry in dollar volume, passing steel by a wide margin," he added.

Dr. L. V. Burton, food industry authority, cautioned that "industrial research should be guided by sound economic thinking—even sound political thinking. We cannot proceed as if we lived in an economic or political vacuum."

Flavor in food, he predicted, will attract more customers than all the vitamins, minerals and other nutritional factors.

Legion Auxiliary Assists Invalids With Fracture Beds

Two Orthopedic, Two Fracture Beds Purchased For Use In Community

Last winter the Ladies Auxiliary of the Perry S. Gaston post, American Legion, sponsored a magazine selling campaign, which netted them enough money to purchase two orthopedic and two fracture beds, it was announced today by Mrs. J. Roy Jones, president of the auxiliary.

The two orthopedic beds have arrived, and have already been put in use. One of them is being used by Mrs. Benjamin Prosser of Euclid avenue and the other by Mrs. James M. Stewart of North Mercer street, both of whom sustained injuries in falls.

Mrs. Prosser was able to leave the hospital, where she would ordinarily have had to remain for some time, and be taken care of in her home, due to the fact that the orthopedic bed furnished by the auxiliary was available.

The two fracture beds have been shipped and are expected to arrive shortly. They will also be available for use by anyone in the community who needs them.

These beds, when not in use, will be available to anyone needing them, and will be furnished without charge by the auxiliary, the only expense involved being transportation to and from the place of storage.

Pulaski Officer In Allotment Office

Newly Made Officer Assigned To Office Of Dependency Benefits

Announcement was made today by Brig. Gen. H. N. Gilbert, director of the Office of Dependency Benefits in Newark, N. J., of the assignment of Second Lieut. Edward J. Borowicz of Pulaski, Pa., to the above office. He is in the correspondence branch of the processing division. He was assigned there from the adjutant general's officers candidate school.

Lieut. Borowicz is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Borowick and has a brother also in the service, Lieut. Henry B. Borowicz.

At his new post he will assist in administering the major benefits to soldiers' dependents, primarily, family allowance and allotments of pay. The ODB is now doing a two billion dollar business a year, Gen. Gilbert announces, sending checks to more than 2,200,000 families and 1,130,000 allotments of pay.

Allotment of pay comes entirely from the soldier's army pay, the general explained, and may be authorized by a man in any grade, either for his dependents or to bank for his own or a dependent's account.

Family allowance is a two-way proposition. Part of it is deducted from the soldier's pay and the rest is a government contribution. It is paid to dependents of enlisted men in the four lowest grades.

Uncle Sam spends 48 cents per day for each soldier's food.

Richman Brothers "Hold the Line"

Now that keeping prices down and quality up is a matter of vital importance to the welfare of the nation, bear in mind that value-giving is an old Richman policy. We've been making good clothes and selling them at the lowest possible prices for 64 years, and times like these only inspire us to greater efforts. Our record proves it. Since the outbreak of war, in 1939, Richman Brothers clothing prices have gone up but $2 per suit or overcoat. This is far less than the average increase in clothing prices generally. At the same time our standard of quality remains as good as ever. Yes, Richman Brothers are doing their part to "hold the line" against inflation.

Cracks in the crust of the earth are not caused by earthquakes. It is the slipping of the crust that causes the quakes. All stone, even the hardest, is slightly elastic and can be bent slightly without breaking. However, too much pressure will break it, and then it snaps back into its original position. This "snap" is what we feel during an earthquake.

Senate Supporters Of Ruml Tax Plan Appear Confident

Administration Leaders Admit Result Of Senate Battle Much In Doubt

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, May 14 — Senate sponsors of the Ruml plan pay-as-you-go tax bill, calling for cancellation of a full year's individual income taxes, today predicted victory despite the reported opposition of the National Association of Manufacturers as well as the Congress of Industrial Organizations.

Administration leaders admitted that the result of the hot senate fight is in doubt, but said the choice appeared to lie between the Ruml 100 per cent abatement plan and the George 75 per cent compromise.

Ruml plan supporters declared that disclosure that the National Association of Manufacturers had instituted a campaign against the Ruml plan bill, on the ground that its passage would mean higher corporation taxes, would react in its favor.

Sen. Homer Ferguson (R) Mich., made public what he said was a telegram sent by the NAM to members opposing the Ruml plan bill and favoring the George compromise. Ferguson said the wire to association members read:

"We are reliably informed that good chance exists for postponement of tax bill consideration until late summer or fall if the George amendment carries, with any new rates applying after Dec. 31, and with a fair possibility of no additional corporation tax, and under these circumstances we feel that the time has come for us to exert every possible effort to induce each senator to support and vote for the so-called George amendment.

"We have very little time in which to work so will you please phone or write both of your senators at once and get your local organization and as many friends as you can reach to do likewise. For your information: Mr. Crawford, the president of the association, approves this action also. Please act fast."

HIROHITO MIGHT BE ABLE TO GUESS

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, May 14— For reasons that it is not making public (but maybe Hirohito can guess), the Navy expects to need more ammunition after the fall of Germany.

In testimony made public by the House Appropriations Committee, Rear Admiral W. H. P. Blandy, chief of Ordnance, had the following exchange with Rep. Thomas (D) Tex:

Thomas—"After we get rid of Hitler will there be a general decrease in the expenditure of funds for ammunition?"

Adm. Blandy—"No, Sir." (Discussion off the record.)

Thomas (Resuming on the record)—"The probability is there will be an increase?"

Adm. Blandy—"Yes, sir."

Rich Hill Church To Dedicate Flag

Judge W. Walter Braham will be the principal speaker next Sunday evening at Rich Hill Presbyterian church when a church service flag will be dedicated. The flag will contain fourteen stars.

This service will be sponsored by the Young Married People's class of the Sunday school, Robert Jameson, president. A U.S. Army recruiting officer will assist in the dedication.

A union choir of the church and class will provide special music. Rev. Homer K. Miller is the church pastor.

NO STRIKE PLEDGE IS UNCONDITIONAL

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, May 14.—President Sidney Hillman of the CIO Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America declared today that labor's no-strike pledge for the duration is unconditional. No grievance, he added, can excuse the interruption of production for even one day.

Hillman's speech, delivered before the convention of the Textile Workers Union of America, was a thinly-veiled attack on John L. Lewis. He did not mention the United Mine Workers president's name but when questioned later said:

"Let whoever the cap fits wear it."

The women will act as District Directors of the Women's Reserve in the Naval Districts, to be responsible to the Commandant for all matters of policy affecting women officers and enlisted personnel in relation to the supervision, housing, health, discipline, welfare and recreation, and when called upon to represent and interpret the Women's Reserve to the public. Women selected will also act as Officers-in-Charge of seamen in Naval Training Schools and Officers-in-Charge of large housing projects.

Experience must have involved the handling of large groups of people. Applicants must have demonstrated administrative responsibility and have had varied contacts.

Interested applicants may apply by mail or in person to the Office of Naval Officer Procurement, Women's Reserve Section, Keystone Hotel Building, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. Office hours are from 8:30 a. m. to 9:00 p. m. on week days, or at the local Naval Recruiting Office, Post Office Building.

Cheating the government is much like old-time bootlegging. A $10,000 fine is a trifle if you got a $5,000,000 profit.

No 'Brightwork' On Battlewagons

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, May 14.—America's wartime battlewagons are to go to sea minus their peace-time "brightwork" it was disclosed today.

Stimson Sees Victory Results

Defeat Of Axis Forces In Tunisia Will Be Felt By Germany And Satelites

VICTORY GREAT AS STALINGRAD

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, May 14.—Secretary of War Stimson declared on Thursday that the decisive Allied victory over Axis forces in Tunisia "will be felt throughout Germany and her satelite nations."

"The Axis defeat in Tunisia was more than the loss of large armies," Stimson told his weekly news conference. "It was the loss of a campaign and the loss of a continent. This defeat for Germany will rank with Stalingrad as one of her great debacles in the past six months."

Stimson expressed the belief that Allied forces gained immeasurably more in experience and united effort in the prolonged six months campaign in Tunisia than if United Nations forces had occupied Bizerte and Tunis last November.

"If we won in November," he said, "the Axis would have attributed our success to luck and chance. But now our forces have decisively beaten the enemy to their knees. This effect will reach deep into the Reich."

Stimson added that the six months campaign turned apparent disadvantages into advantages for the United Nations. He explained that an Allied victory in November would have over- extended supply lines and communications.

Outstanding Success

Stimson declared too, that the break up of large Allied divisions into small task forces proved to be one of the outstanding successes of United Nations tactics.

The secretary also noted that the weather which initially favored the Axis in North Africa helped the Allies in the final phase of the Tunisian campaign.

"Early in the campaign," he recalled, "the Germans sent large numbers of planes over Tunisia while our planes were grounded because of bad weather.

"This probably led the German high command to think they could reinforce their troops at will and arrange for any probable evacuation."

Stimson recalled that he had pointed out previously that the weather cleared on April 6 and provided the Allied air forces with the tactical advantage they needed to completely upset the Axis' final plans in North Africa.

Stimson noted that the United Nations had at least achieved the tactical principle of concentrating its air power in one local area.

See Air Power Effect

"Tunisia is a striking example of the pulverizing effect of mass and centrated air power," Stimpson declared. "In this instance our air forces brought relatively quick victory without too great casualties. We hope it can be applied later."

Stimson declared that no plans have been made for the disposition of the 150,000 Axis prisoners in North Africa. He observed that "the great number of prisoners is somewhat embarrassing to our commanders in Tunisia."

The secretary paid high tribute to the "superb leadership" of General Dwight D. Eisenhower, Allied commander in North Africa. Other Allied commanders who rendered great support to the United Nations victory, he said, included Gen. Sir Harold R. L. G. Alexander of the Allied ground forces, Sir Artnur Tedder and Lt. Gen. Carl A. Spaatz of the Allied air command.

Stimson declared that American soldiers in the ranks were quick to correct their initial mistakes.

"One lesson I take comfort in is that while the Americans—troops and commanders—made initial mistakes," he stated, "they were quick to correct them.

VICTORY GARDEN NOTES

(By LEWIS C. DAYTON)
(County Farm Agent)

COLORADO POTATO BEETLE

The striped Colorado potato beetles are familiar to gardeners who grow potatoes. They have caused a large amount of loss on tomatoes and similar plants during recent years. The beetles and their red-colored young or slugs completely eat the leaves on tender growing shoots of the plants. Often, if the insects are not controlled, the entire plant will be defoliated and die.

The golden yellow egg masses may be removed and crushed if only a few plants are attacked. It is much safer, however, to give the plants a protective dusting with rotenone just as soon as beetles are seen or potatoes are about 5 inches high.

Applications of calcium or lead arsenate (2 tablespoons of the arsenate and 2 cups of hydrated lime in 1 gallon of water) will control them.

Cryolite (3 tablespoons in 1 gallon of water) is an alternative spray. The cryolite, however, must never be used with lime.

Where potatoes are being grown, calcium arsenate is commonly used at the rate of three-quarters of a pound in 25 gallons of bordeaux mixture (copper sulphate-lime).

Dust applications also are serviceable. These are mentioned in Extension Circular 246 which may be obtained from the County Agricultural Extension Office, No. 206 Post Office Bldg., New Castle.

Tomorrow—Millipedes.

(Clip and preserve for future reference).

Under the methods of tree-farming recommended by the American forest products industries, the country's farm wood lots would bring to farm families an additional income of approximately a half billion dollars a year, the equivalent of a new major crop.

Asks $400,000,000 More For Housing

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, May 14.—President Roosevelt today asked congress for an additional appropriation of $400,000,000 for the National Housing Agency to meet construction needs for 1,100,000 migratory war workers in 1944.

The request was contained in a special message in which the president revealed that a similar fund, appropriated by the Lanham act of 1940 and other acts to provide war housing, was almost entirely committed to serve 1943 housing needs.

Huss Discusses Collapse Of Nazis

Contrasts Debacle In Tunisia With Invasion Of Small European Nations

SAYS GERMANS GOT SURPRISES

(Editor's Note: Chief International News Service correspondent in Berlin from 1933 to 1941, Pierre J. Huss "covered" the German army during all its "blitz" campaigns in Europe and witnessed the arrogance and speed with which this gigantic military machine overwhelmed puny and unprepared opponents. Today, with the war in Africa over, he compares victorious Nazi armies with a defeated one and in the following dispatch described collapse of Adolf Hitler's legions in Tunisia.)

By PIERRE J. HUSS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, May 14 — While Allied guns leisurely silenced a handful of enemy nuisance nests in Tunisia Thursdaay, three blood-stained and battle-grimed American, British and French armies stacked their rifles and Tommy-guns to rest briefly upon hard-earned laurels.

A warm May sun shone brightly upon suddenly-peaceful hills and valleys where war to the death has given place to slow movement at long transport columns. On one side are the victorious completing general occupation of Tunisia. On the other are the vanquished en route to prison camps.

Revers Of Nazi Scenes

It is the exact reverse of scenes I had witnessed upon fifty battlefields in Europe—scenes that were duplicated with discouraging monotony.

The profound shock of wholesale defeat is registered in the morose, dispirited faces of Axis generals as well as the rank and file. For the most part, they have had their fill of war and are glad that for them at least it is all over.

The truth of the matter is that the nerve-shattering assault of the Allies simply took the heart out of the Axis in Africa and knocked the stuffing out of the Herrenvolk.

Although the price paid by the Allies naturally was costly, Axis extermination from North Africa was such a phennomennal success that everything else was overshadowed. It is only reasonable to remember, however, that bitter total warfare lies ahead.

Unconditional Surrender

Real significance of the majestic Allied victory in Tunisia lies in the fundamental Allied decision which already is casting a long shadow over Adolf Hitler's Europe. This is the Casabianca decision of unconditional surrender, to meet any Axis challenge wherever it may rise with superior arms and greater courage.

Hitler used to brag that he alone had mastered the art of total warfare, and organized his army and battle tactics accordingly. It has been amptly demonstrated in Tunisia that what Hitler adapted from Ludendorff's theory of "total war" can also be appropriated and improved in practice by the Allies.

I well remember reports of those so-called secret sessions he summoned at the Berlin chancellory for Wehrmacht officers on the eve of any invasion when he shouted for hours that the foe must be killed off mercilessly in droves, his heart broken by streams of blood.

The Fuehrer had a vicious way of climaxing these lectures by commanding his officers to keep in mind that the sole termination of any campaign acceptable to him was unconditional surrender.

In Tunisia, Col Gen. Jurgen Von Arnim strove frantically to obey the principles and dicta laid down by Berlin and retreated into a narrowing corner, still believing along with Berlin that the Allies could be held at bay indefinitely from his formidable waves of hill defenses.

But Von Arnim and the high command under-estimated one factor—namely, that the Allied armies had been welded into a powerful striking force capable of mastering all emergencies in record time.

Added to all this was matchless Allied leadership. Von Arnim was out-generalled and the German air force was outflown and outfought.

Finally, while Yanks and Englishmen may not love cold-steel combat they are not afraid of it. The Nazis, on the other hand, abhor it, and will surrender rather than match bayonets.

That is why 150,000 bewildered Axis prisoners and Nazi dead rotting in their graves are all that remain of the Germans and Italians who once held all North Africa in thrall.

PARKING RECEIPTS HERE ON INCREASE

It was announced that $1,765.65 was paid by motorists during the past 13 days for parking cars on streets here where there are parking meters. This is one of the largest collections for less than a two-week period in some time.

OCD NOTES

Activities Of OCD Workers Are Outlined Here

Frank Sargent, Chief air raid warden for the city today issued a Bulletin as follows:

Has your group received their share of the benefit fund from the stadium show, which was held last fall? If not, we are asking, that you contact this office with receipts of monies expended by your group to the amount of $9.50 or more. With these receipts you can get your share of this fund.

Now that summer is coming, people will be sitting on their porches, during time of Air Raid Drill and Blackouts. It is the warden duty to request these persons to take shelter, as our rule book specifically states, that porches do not constitute shelter.

Until further orders are received, we will continue to allow persons to remain in automobiles and busses, during time of red signal. If you will note in your rule book, this provision is taken care of.

Again we call your attention to your reports on blackout violations. These should be in this office no later than the next twenty-four hour period after the blackout.

The O.C.D. office has a mimiographed form for the parent of all messengers to be signed, when the messenger has been sworn in, and this form will be made a part of the record in this office. These forms may be secured by the instructors or senior wardens.

While the constitutions of the American republics vary in details, in fundamental provisions they are similar.

CHECK 4F LISTS

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, May 14.—Civilian specialists have checked 1,000 New Yorkers placed in class 4F by draft boards because of heart ailments and found one-fifth of them fit for army duty, it was revealed today.

The tests have been going on for six weeks and the 200 found capable of army duty will be ordered to report for another examination at the army induction center. The army physicians, of course, will have the last word on their acceptance.

Reconsideration Of Rail Location Petition Denied

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, May 14 — The public utility commission today denied petitions to reconsider its order authorizing removal and relocation of railroad tracks crossing South Jefferson, Sherman and George streets in New Castle.

The petitions were filed by the Pennsylvania railroad, the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad and the city of New Castle. The commission held that a further hearing is not necessary "since all matters involved have had a full and adequate hearing."

The two railroads contended that the order is "arbitrary and unreasonable," while the city stated that the commission "exceeded its authority" in imposing upon it the duty of maintaining traffic signs within the lines of the state highway.

NEW COAL STRIKE MAY BE CALLED

War Labor Board Promises Quick Decision In Wage Controversy

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, May 14 — With only four days remaining before a new general coal strike may break out, the War Labor Board today drafted a statement promising quick decision in the wage controversy between John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers and the nation's coal operators.

The statement, which may be designed to force Lewis to extend the present 15 day truce in the coal fields, was expected to be issued within the next 24 hours.

A three man panel of the board, which has been investigating Lewis' demand for a $2-a-day wage increase for the miners, will make its report to the full board either late today or tomorrow. The board will then issue the statement that it has received the panel recommendations and promise that a speedy decision will be made.

The panel recommendations were expected to be liberal, and they may urge that Lewis be given most of what he wants.

Furlough For New Inductees Will Be Longer

WASHINGTON, May 14—Lengthening of the furlough period allowed new inductees today indicated that drafting of men with children would soon begin.

While the war department announcement of the furlough extension from seven to 14 days did not mention induction of fathers, the move was viewed as a preliminary step in that direction.

Head of families normally would require more time to settle their affairs and make arrangements for their dependents than single men or married men without children. In apparent recognition of this fact, the department said that the furlough period would be lengthened to 21 days this summer.

In recent testimony before congress, Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, National Selective Service Director, said that drafting of fathers was expected to start about July and would become general in August.

The War Department directed the commanders of the nine service commands to increase the furlough period for inductees "as conditions within their jurisdictions permit."

COFFEE RATION INCREASE URGED

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, May 14.—The tri-state section of the National Coffee association has sent telegrams to the OPA in Washington urging the increase of coffee rations to one pound per person every four weeks instead of the present five-week period, it was disclosed here today.

The proposed increase is "justified," according to Harold T. Hanson, chairman of the group, "by present stocks of green coffee, available coffee shipping and ample retailers' stocks of roasted coffee on the shelves."

The telegrams also urged a commensurate increase in allotments to restaurants and institutions.

Even with the increase of rations to one per pound per person every four weeks, coffee consumption in the United States this year will be only 60 per cent of normal, it was pointed out.

To guard their secret of the making of silk, the Chinese told inquiring visitors that it came from a special kind of sheep when water was sprinkled on them at certain seasons of the year.

The June meeting will be held in form of a tureen dinner in the church.

Allied Troops Given Praise

Lieut. Gen. Anderson Pays Tribute To Men Who Fought To Tunisia Victory

THANKSGIVING PLANNED MAY 23

By MICHAEL CHINIGO
(U. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WITH BRITISH FORCES ON CAP BON, May 12—(Delayed)—Unstinting praise for Allied troops who smashed through to victory in Tunisia was voiced today by Lieut.-Gen. Kenneth Anderson as he announced the first army will hold a special thanksgiving service on May 23.

The lanky commander of the British first army labeled "a near miracle" the growth of the American Second Corps into "a first rate fighting machine in such a short time" and praised also the tenacity of the French during the crucial days of the campaign. Then he added:

"The dash and speed of all troops was admirable. They were determined we'd get to Tunis this time and we did . . . This Nazi thing is in truth a great evil. It takes more than physical prowess to rid ourselves of it."

May Be 175,000 Prisoners

All the time he spoke with correspondents, he kept Col.-Gen. Jurgen Von Arnim, captured Axis leader in Tunisia, waiting to see him.

He personally announced the capture of the Nazi commander as one of a batch of Axis captives, the total of which soon may approach 175,000.

Sitting on a rough table in field headquarters on a hill overlooking the main highway, Anderson discussed the Tunisian triumph with correspondents even as Von Arnim was waiting to see his captor. Below, on the road, a procession of German and Italian lorries streamed past, bearing more prisoners and equipment to the Allied rear.

With a smile of victory on his lips, the British general declared:

"Well, it's very nearly finishd. It's one of the greatest Allied victories. All troops participating—British, Americans and French—share in the glory.

Praises French

"The French merit great applause for having laid the groundwork in making the present success possible, for if they hadn't held the Dorasl mountain range in the early, lean days when we had a shoestring frontline, the story might have been very different.

"The American Second Corps," Anderson added, 'fought magnificently. It's a near miracle how they've grown into a first rate fighting machine in such a short time. They have the heart. They went in there with all of it, did better than we and will do even better the next time.

I caught a glimpse of Von Arnim as he waited to see Anderson. I saw a chunky little man with a dark red face and legs slightly bowed. He was immaculate in a Nazi field uniform and was scowling when I saw him.

But his subsequent confab and a drink with Anderson, probably set him straight on a number of points.

Anderson's forces and the Americans captured a dozen generals or more but failed to bag the two most dogged Nazi leaders, Gen. Schmidt and Col. Koch, Rommel's key men.

Von Arnim, of course, was the prize catch. He apparently attempted to escape but the speedy dash of Anderson's forces to the tip of Cap Bon and Hammamet resulted in the capture of the two remaining enemy airdromes, several planes and several hundred tank experts and thus deprived Von Arnim of all means of flight.

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, May 14—Pennsylvania, birth state of "Old Glory", produces 60 per cent of all the flags manufactured in the country, the state department of commerce disclosed today.

Of 11 flag companies in the state, two firms in Perkiomen Valley, Montgomery county, manufacture more than 50 per cent of the national emblems. They are the Dettra Flag Company, Inc., at Oaks and the Collegeville Flag & Manufacturing Co.

The 52-year-old Dettra firm, said to be the oldest in the nation, is now producing four times as many flags as it did prior to the war.

Use of German dyes in American flags was discontinued with World War 1, in preference to cotton bunting with American dyes.

Flags cost the government millions of dollars and their production has come a long way since the widowed seamstress, Betsy Ross, sewed the first "Old Glory" in 1777. Her home still stands at 239 Arch street, Philadelphia.

Memorial Day Service Planned

(Special To The News)

GROVE CITY, May 14—The first evening Memorial Day program in the community's history is planned for 6 o'clock, Monday, May 31, according to Dr. P. W. Allen, chairman of the committee representing various patriotic organizations.

The change from 10 a. m. to 6 p. m. was made to include from 400 to 600 service men in training at the College and Cooper-Bessemer plants, who have a full schedule of work on the 31st. It is expected that the parade, which will march out West Main street to Memorial Park, will include at least 500 uniformed members of the Army Air Force, Marines, Navy and Coast Guard.

The program will feature an address by Dr. A. H. Leitch, dean of men at Grove City.

In the frozen regions of Siberia mammoths and woolly rhinoceroses have been found with the flesh in a good state of preservation. Notwithstanding these animals have been dead since the great ice age, which was thousands of years ago, their flesh is still edible, having been in perfect cold storage all these centuries.

Price Ceilings Placed On Soap

O. P. A. Announces Price Schedule To Be In Effect On May 24 In Nation

By PHILLIPS J. PECK
(U. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, May 14—Broadening its program to provide consumers with specific price yardsticks the OPA today placed the $364,000,000 soap industry under dollars and cents ceilings—cake by cake and brand by brand.

The new ceilings, effective May 24, are just about what consumers are now paying. They do not represent an increase in the general level of soap prices and will bring reductions in some stores, the OPA said.

Control at the retail level is restricted to grocery stores at this time, because by far the greater part of all soap sold to domestic users moves through such outlets. Other stores will continue to charge their highest March, 1942, prices.

Under the new dollars and cents regulation, small independent retailers have a maximum price of eight cents for a regular size bar of Lux soap; seven cents for a medium bar of Ivory; six cents for P & G white laundry soap; 11 cents for a small box of Oxydol and nine cents for a can of Old Dutch cleanser.

For the same items, chain store maximums are one cent lower.

The action on soap prices coincided with the following developments:

Developments

1. A high official revealed that a tough-minded business man, preferably a chain store executive with national merchandising experience, is being sought for the post of executive director of OPA to put the agency on a business-like basis.

2. Price Administrator Prentiss M. Brown disclosed that OPA's budget for the 1943-44 fiscal year will ask funds for an additional 1,400 investigators to step up enforcement activities.

3. The OPA estimated that the 4.7 percent average reduction in freight rates, which goes into effect tomorrow, will save consumers, including the government, more than $350,000,000 annually. In the field of food generally, the saving is estimated at more than $42,000,000.

The new "general manager" of OPA would occupy a position second only to Brown and would relieve him of a heavy burden of operating details, freeing Brown to work on policy matters, relations with congress and other agencies.

A decision on the appointment is expected within a week. John Hamm, senior assistant to Brown, has resigned from OPA, effective June 1. His successor will wield far-greater authority, exercising power over "anything and everything" within OPA.

Britain Holds 460,000 Prisoners

(International News Service)

LONDON, May 14.—Britain holds more than three Axis prisoners of war for every British fighting man held by the enemy, authoritative sources revealed today.

A total of 460,000 enemy troops, including 150,000 Germans and 310,000 Italians is held by the British, an expert computation showed. Against this, Germany holds 80,000 British prisoners and Italy has another 70,000.

In addition, it was pointed out, the total of Italian prisoners held does not include colored troops.

The computation also confirmed the fact that the grand total of British casualties in Africa was 54,234 men.

Tires To Be Used For Stated Purpose

Ration Board Warns Of Shortage Of Grade One Tires; Recapping Required

Because of the shortage of tires, holders of B and C gasoline cards are warned that tires issued them must be used for occupational purposes. The warning sent out by the War Price and Rationing Board follows:

You have been issued a certificate for passenger tires or tubes or truck tires, tubes or recapping service. The board has issued this certificate or certificates on the basis of your tire application, inspection report and original gasoline application. These tires or tubes must be used only for the purposes stated on your applications.

In general, "B" or "C" gasoline book holders or trucks must use these for occupational purposes only.

The board is given a definite allotment of each grade of tires for a period of one month. There are usually more eligible applications each month than the quota will cover. It is therefore necessary for the board to determine the most important and urgent cases to receive tires. In many cases it is necessary to give out grade III where the applicant might be eligible for grade I.

It is the policy of the board not to give better than grade III for spares and at many times it is not possible to grant any tires for spares.

All tires must be recapped whenever they are worn to the breaker strip. New tires may not be secured as long as the carcass is recappable. Failure to have tires recapped at the proper time may forfeit applicant's right to secure new tires.

One very large family of plants is called umbelata, because its flower-stems all start from one point, spreading out something like the wires of an umbrella. The caraway, parsley, wild carrot and parsnip show this form of growth.

Release Wheat To Feed Livestock

Lawrence County Farmers Will Benefit By Program To Increase Meat Supply

More than 600,000 bushels of wheat for poultry and livestock feeding has been released by the Commodity Credit Corporation for Pennsylvania farmers since March 25 when President Roosevelt signed the bill authorizing an additional one million bushels for the feed wheat program, according to Clyde A. Zehner, vice chairman of the Pennsylvania AAA Committee of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Five carloads came to Lawrence county, it was said.

Totaling 429 carloads, the amount does not include the considerable quantities of wheat used by Pennsylvania farmers in commercial mixed feed manufactured outside the state. Mr. Zehner said the wheat will continue to be sold this month at a price from $1.04 to $1.08 per bushel in Pennsylvania.

These wheat shipments will stimulate additional milk and meat production which would otherwise not be profitable, Mr. Zehner explained. Shipment by carlot may be ordered by feed dealers or livestock producers, and the price of the wheat is determined at corn parity.

The last of the 125 million bushels of government wheat released by congress last summer was sold early in March. Approximately 2,500,000 bushels of this amount came by carlot into Pennsylvania, Mr. Zehner said, and additional quantities came as commercial mixed feed.

POLICE, FIREMEN'S FUNDS IN GOOD SHAPE

City police and firemen's pension funds are in good condition, according to S. L. Lockley, city controller.

The police pension fund now contains approximately $14,000 and the firemen's fund has about $20,000, he stated.

PLAN MORE STUDY OF CURFEW BILL

Council met in council chambers, City Hall, Thursday and considered the proposed curfew ordinance which was introduced by Public Safety Director D. O. Davies. Under existing provisions persons under 17 years would be prohibited from being in public places or public streets between 11 p. m. and seven a. m., unless accompanied by parent or guardian.

Inasmuch as there are many angles to be considered, it was decided to give the measure further consideration before reporting it from committee.

Babson Gives Ideas On Length Of War

By ROGER W. BABSON
(Copyright, 1943, Publishers Financial Bureau, Inc.)

BABSON PARK, Mass., May 14.—First let us remember that the United States is the only functioning constitutional democracy engaged in the war. Neither China nor Russia are democracies. Certainly none of the Axis countries are democracies. England has no written constitution although this fact is not necessary for my thesis this week. Certainly England and her empire group are run on entirely different principles than is the United States

BABSON

All the above means that whether we like it or not, World War II is gradually bound to get into politics. Furthermore, the longer the war lasts, the more it will become involved in politics. This is especially true as fear of American invasion or bombing disappears and there is a general feeling that we are bound to win. This is no reflection upon either the Republican or Democratic parties and least of all upon President Franklin D. Roosevelt. Having once been a presidential candidate myself I want to definitely emphasize this point: World War II is bound to get into politics even if I or any reader of this column were president.

Japan Or Germany First

The question of whether we shall first whip Japan or Germany, or go at them both 50-50, is already a question of politics. Many Republicans, led by General MacArthur, are for whipping Japan first, or at least giving her 50-50 of the dosage; while most of the Democrats, led by the President, are for whipping Germany first. Furthermore, sectionalism is a factor in this connection. The Pacific coast is especially fearful of Japan; while the Atlantic coast is especially fearful of Europe. The great Middle West, led by the Chicago Tribune, is more-or-less noncommittal. Before Pearl Harbor this great section of the country was largely isolationists. Since then they have been very loyal, but in their hearts often wonder what it is all about.

Then, this country is divided as to whether we are acting independently enough. Some seem to regret that when pulling our chestnuts out of the fire we also are pulling out England's. Personally, I believe we owe a tremendous debt of gratitude to England and am not at all sympathetic with this group of "America Firsters". In order to save ourselves we are obliged to save England although we are not in this war, per se, to save the British Empire. If after the war a vote should be taken on what we should do for the British Empire, I am afraid our good English cousins would be disappointed. Therefore, this has become more-or-less of a political football, with the New Dealers lining up with the British Empire and the Republicans playing with the "America Firsters" program. This is further complicated by the leading Republican candidate for 1944, Wendell Willkie, taking a broad-minded, global viewpoint; while another spectacular Republican, Clare Boothe Luce, backed by untold millions, seems to be for grabbing all we can for ourselves.

Invasion Or Strangulization

Perhaps the most important political struggle will develop in connection with the policy to be used in bringing Germany to her knees. One group favors the immediate invasion of Europe and I assume that President Roosevelt is back of these immediate invasion plans. By Europe, I mean the invasion of the continent itself. Taking Norway is not invading Europe. Certainly, if this is not the intention of the Roosevelt Administration, it has been deceiving the American people. It is generally assumed that the real invasion jumping off points will be England, Norway, Africa and Turkey. The invasion may be centered at one point or scattered over several points. I am not a military man and am unable to comment on this problem. I do, however, understand that the administration favors working 100 per cent with Russia and England. This means doing what Russia and England want as they are in the majority. Hence, I admit that an invasion may come at any time.

Some Republicans believe that the immediate invasion program would require an uncalled-for sacrifice on the part of our people. In this belief they may be backed up by a majority of the mothers and fathers, sisters and sweethearts of the boys in the army. Furthermore, the larger the army becomes, the more sympathizers the Republicans will have to their substitute strangulization policy, rather than the Democratic invasion policy. These Republicans might favor an invasion of Norway or Turkey in order to get bombing fields; but their primary object is to surround Germany and her conquered countries with a series of bombing fields in Russia, Norway, England, Turkey and Africa, and gradually bomb the daylights out of Germany. They also favor the same policy as to Japan. As a student of political history, I know it is inevitable that this problem will get into United States politics.

Uncertainty Results In Delay

All this will tend to delay a 100 per cent war effort until after the 1944 elections. These are only 18 months away and 18 months will go very rapidly. In view of the uncertainties and disagreements outlined above, such delays are inevitable. The nearer we approach the time of elections, the easier it will be to leave many decisions until after the elections. Certainly, unless a real invasion takes place fairly soon, Germany and Japan can not be conquered before November, 1944. Therefore, it seems to me as a statistician that we will not have world peace until January, 1945, at the earliest.

What does this mean to my readers? It means that farmers, wage workers, transportation companies and other groups which have been prospering from the war are justified in planning on a honeymoon of at least 18 months longer. It means that the businessmen and investors who have been suffering from the war must continue in their present situation for at least 18 months longer. On the other hand, all groups should remember that this global war is not going to end so suddenly as did World War I. The final end will be seen far enough in advance so as to allow for discounting the event. Therefore, those interests now prospering with the war will begin to liquidate before the 18 months are up; while those who—are now in the doghouse will be sticking their heads out the door and feeling chipper likewise in advance.

MAN'S MEMORY APPEARS GONE

(International News Service)

WAUKEGAN, Ill., May 14.—His memory gone after a month's unexplained absence and unable to recognize even his wife and two children, Ellis L. Swihart, 32, today retained from his past only his skill as a lathe operator in a war plant.

Last April 5, Swihart kissed his wife, Edna, and two children, Patricia Lee, 1, and Lois Ann, 3, and left on a hunting trip.

Last week Swihart wandered into a tavern at Miami, Fla., carrying a .22 calibre rifle which he had taken with him from Waukegan. Through fingerprints taken when he obtained his war job, Miami police identified him as Ellis Lee Swihart born in Mulberry, Ind.

Swihart was brought back to Waukegan but he failed to recognize his family, his friends, old haunts, and his fellow workers at the Johnson Outboard Motor company.

But once back at his lathe, Swihart was capable of working as well as ever. In his spare time he drives around Waukegan, trying to recall something familiar.

EAST SIDE UNION

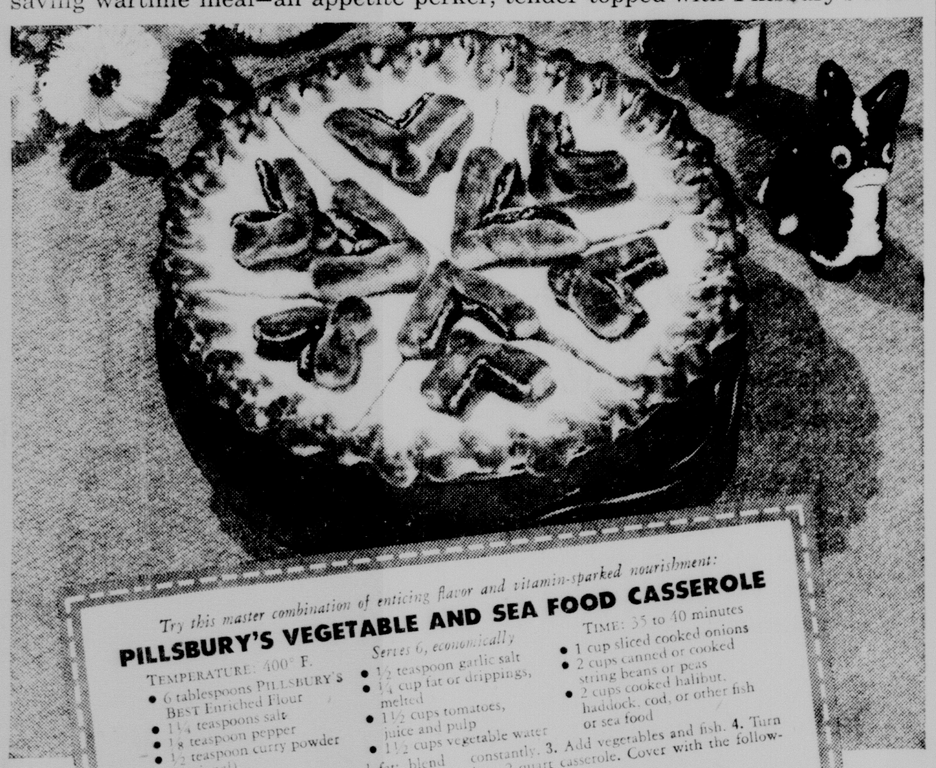

A community Mother's Day meeting, sponsored by the East Side W.C.T.U. with the mothers of the East Side churches as special guests, was held Monday evening at the Third United Presbyterian church.

The meeting opened with the group singing, "Faith of Our Mothers", and the scripture reading by Mrs. Dumbaugh and prayer by Rev. C. R. Thayer. After group singing, a Mother's Day poem was read by Mrs. McGaffic. The principal speaker was Mrs. J. J. McIlvaine, who gave an inspiring talk about mothers and their place in the world of today. P. M. McGaffic then gave some remarks about the need for wartime prohibition.

The president, Mrs. Smock, announced the city W.C.T.U. institute to be held May 27 at 10 o'clock in Croton Methodist church and the meeting closed with the group singing "America" and giving the Lord's Prayer.

The parish of Varennes, Quebec, situated on the right bank of the St. Lawrence river about 15 miles from Montreal, is celebrating its 250th anniversary this year.

You'll fish out more from this casserole than the recipe says you put in! . . . it's a ration-wise, point-saving wartime meal—an appetite perker, tender topped with Pillsbury's Best!

Try this master combination of enticing flavor and vitamin-sparked nourishment:

PILLSBURY'S VEGETABLE AND SEA FOOD CASSEROLE

TEMPERATURE: 400° F. Serves 6, economically TIME: 35 to 40 minutes

- 6 tablespoons PILLSBURY'S BEST Enriched Flour
- 1¼ teaspoons salt
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper
- ½ teaspoon curry powder (optional)
- ½ teaspoon garlic salt
- ¼ cup fat or drippings, melted
- 1½ cups tomatoes, juice and pulp
- 1½ cups vegetable water
- 1 cup sliced cooked onions
- 2 cups canned or cooked string beans or peas
- 2 cups cooked halibut, haddock, cod, or other fish or sea food

1. Combine flour, seasonings, and fat; blend until smooth. 2. Add tomatoes and vegetable water gradually; cook until thickened, stirring constantly. 3. Add vegetables and fish. 4. Turn into 2-quart casserole. Cover with the following:

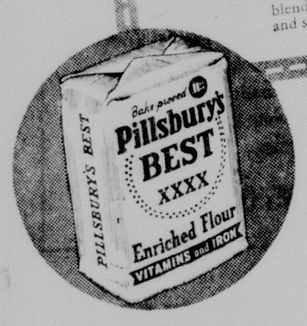

Pillsbury's Biscuit Topping

- 1¾ cups sifted PILLSBURY'S BEST Enriched Flour
- 2½ teaspoons baking powder (or 1¼ teaspoons double-acting)
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ¼ cup shortening
- ½ cup grated nippy cheese
- ⅔ cup milk, about

1. Sift flour once, measure; add baking powder and salt; sift together. 2. Cut in shortening until mixture resembles coarse meal. Add cheese; mix well. 3. Add milk; mix until all flour is dampened. 4. Turn out on floured board; knead lightly for a few seconds to smooth dough. 5. Roll out dough a little larger than top of casserole. Place over casserole; trim and flute edge. Mark top into 6 wedge-shaped pieces. 6. With remaining trimmings, roll into narrow strips; place attractively in V-shapes over top. Gash top to allow escape of steam. 7. Bake in hot oven till done.

One of the things you'll observe, no matter what you bake with Pillsbury's Best, is the delicate tenderness of the finished food, even though it's hearty and substantial, too. The full-bodied, sturdy elasticity comes from certain types of fine wheat, the delicate tenderness from others. One is balanced carefully with the other in Pillsbury's Best. All your baking benefits.

FOR BETTER BREAD—insist on this "tender blend" flour! Thanks to its "tender blend" of wheats, Pillsbury's Best helps you make bread that is full-bodied, hearty, and substantial, yet amazingly light and tender.

Pillsbury's Best Enriched Flour

NEEDED PROTEINS—Don't let the shortage of meats and other high-protein foods rob your family of the vital proteins they need every day. Baked foods made with milk and enriched flour are a good source of protein. Cheese biscuits, coffee-cake, nut breads, sea food casserole with biscuit topping, peanut butter cookies, are delicious ways you can put protein back into the family meals.

White flour, enriched as your government recommends, is plentiful! Make good use of it in solving your protein problem!

Violets Listed As Blooming Cinch; Army Considered Main Threat

NAVY, COLUMBIA ARE DARKHORSES

By LEWIS BURTON
(International News Service Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, May 14.—The violets are a-blooming; that is, they're a blooming cinch. It will take an upset comparable to making the Empire State Building stand on its point for anyone, including the United States Military Academy, to prevent New York University from winning the intercollegiate A. A. A. A. track and field championship tomorrow at Randalls Island stadium.

A careful analysis of all prospects points to the probability that the violets will come close to doubling the Cadets' team score. And army has been considered the main threat to the Violets' sweep of the team titles it has sought this year.

Navy Darkhorse

New York University figures to score 37 points to Army's 21, followed by Navy, 16; and Columbia and New Hampshire 14 each. Navy would appear to be the dark horse of the meet, for its well-balanced team has not been tested in a championship outdoor meet comparable to the Ivy League, which Army won, or the meets, which N. Y. U. won.

It would take a collapse of several stars to wreck N. Y. U.'s chances, or even to make the meet close. They include Ed Conwell, due to score in two sprints; Warren Halliburton, in both hurdles; Bernie Mayer, the unbeaten national shot put champion; and Len Bates, a consistent performer in the discus throw. Among them the foursome is good for 22 points, enough to win the meet all alone.

Five athletes are conceded probable doubles—Boo Morcom, of New Hampshire, in the broad jump and pole vault, aside from a probable second place in the high jump; Harvey Kelsey, Princeton sprinter; Bill Vessie, Columbia discus and high jump star; Tom Todd, Virginia hurdler; and Don Burnham, Dartmouth's exceptional miler, who, in going after the half-mile also, is trying for a double achieved by only three men before him.

OUT NOW

Babe Phelps, Pittsburgh's catcher, is out of baseball this year to work as a troop dispatcher at Fort George G. Meade.

Big 10 Meet Starts Today

Illinois, Michigan Favored To Nab 43rd Annual Track-Field Title

(International News Service)

EVANSTON, Ill., May 14.—Illinois and Michigan were favorites as the 43rd annual Big Ten track and field championships got under way today in Dyche stadium with preliminaries scheduled in 9 out of 14 events. Finals in all events will be staged tomorrow.

Despite the loss of a number of potential point winners to the armed services this spring, every school was represented. Indiana, Purdue and Iowa entered small squads because of the early closing of the school year at these institutions.

Edge To Illinois

Due to a 62 to 60 triumph over Michigan two weeks ago in a dual meet, Illinois was given a slight edge over the Wolverines in the competition today and tomorrow. The Wolverines, winner of the indoor title, and outdoor champions five out of the last eight years, were strongly favored before the surprising setback at the hands of the Illini.

Acquisition of a number of star freshmen as the result of the waiving of the freshman rule in the Big Ten provided Illinois with its best team since 1934, when it won its last outdoor championship. Other teams also were expected to benefit from freshmen and men in military service who were also eligible to compete.

Charlie Hlad, former Michigan Normal hurdles star, now is an Army Air Corps student at the University of Chicago. Hlad, former national intercollegiate champion, is favored to win both the low and high hurdles.

He was runner-up in the National Amateur in 1941 at Omaha.

Sports Ramblings

Sports ticker tape:---

In the midst of the Phillies' renaissance, Pvt. "Al" Lastoria, a Crotonite attached to the United States Army Air Force stationed in Miami Beach, Florida, air mails a basketball pass this way. "If a player is dribbling down the floor and misses tapping the ball as it is bouncing, can he recover the ball without it being called a double dribble?" asks Al. For safety's sake, I passed the quiz to Sam Richards, who has been tooting tin whistles for close to a quarter of a century. Sam says "the player has not violated the double dribble rule. He must, however, shoot or pass the ball after recovering it." That's that . . . .

With that off his chest, Lastoria writes that close to 20 New Castlelites are parked in that balmy South spot. He lists Pvt. "Bill" Paradise, the Ne-Ca-Hi track beauty; Pvt. Ralph Pia, ex-Forrest Cub cager; Pvts. Edward Levine, Robert Padula, George Mariacher, John Parillo (ex-Elder player) Frank Cameron, Howard Love, Gene Mackey and Pfc. Angelo Valetta. Lastoria, who filled the shortstop gap for the Croton A. C. in capable fashion, closes with "greetings to all the sports family back home" . . . .

For the benefit of a few localites who contemplate a fishing jaunt to Canada, Karl T. Rohrer, of the Pennsylvania Fishing club, informs me that restrictions "aren't as tough as some believe. Applications for temporary ration books are available; so are books for sugar for canning, and auto-boat gasoline" . . . More greetings to local sports fans arrived today. The sender is Major H. Butterbach, who is stationed at McDill Field, Tampa, Fla. Before entering the army's chaplain school, Major Butterbach was assistant pastor of St. Vitus church and quite active in local athletic circles . . . .

Got to wondering what happened to the nation's top thespians—wrestlers—when I ran across a dispatch from Canada stating that the groaners are enjoying boom times in Montreal with a half dozen performances a week . . . Mace Brown, the ex-Pirate pitcher and one of the best average fatteners in the N. L. for several seasons, has dropped four tilts with the Red Sox. That's being consistent . . . Philadelphians are sure of one real game this season. The 1943 American-National league All-Star contest is carded for Shibe Park, Tuesday, July 13 . . . .

George Washington May Quit Too; Game Fading In Nation's Capitol

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, May 14—A fade-out of college football for the duration in the nation's capital appeared likely today after Georgetown University abandoned the gridiron.

Following the Georgetown announcement officials of George Washington University disclosed that they are studying the situation closely and prospects for continuation of the sport appeared slight.

Catholic University and Gallaudet college did not have football teams last season and American University is not expected to go out for football this year.

Only Maryland University, located at nearby College Park, Md., which has special courses permitting continuation of football, appears likely to remain in the field.

Georgetown, a star unit for the army specialized training corps, abandoned football after participating in the sport for 45 straight years.

State Hatcheries' Trout Lack Liver

Vitamin Shortage Perils Thousands Of Trout; Weather Mars Fishing

(Special To The News)

HARRISBURG, May 14.—Thousands of trout in state hatcheries may die of low blood pressure, anemia and goitre unless ways are found to supply their necessary B-1 vitamins in the form of liver, fisheries Commissioner Charles A French said today.

The commissioner's liver quota has been cut 30 per cent, and it has no assurance now of getting any. Unable to insure delivery, packers refuse to contract for the sorely-needed trout food, and substitutes are even harder to procure.

Unseasonable Weather

Adding to French's worries was the unseasonable weather which spoiled trout fishing since opening of the season last April 15. High streams and unusually cold weather combined to make the sport unpleasant for thousands of anglers, including many war workers. The season closes July 31.

Approximately 700,000 legal-sized fish, ranging from seven to 16 inches, were stocked this season. With sufficient liver in their diets supplemented by natural forage, the Rainbow, Brook and Brownie species have been going for the hook on the few occasions the weather has produced good angling.

City Leaguers Meet Tonight

Plans Will Be Completed For 10th Season; Session At 8 O'Clock

TEAMS MUST POST $25 FRANCHISE FEE

Final plans will be completed for the 10th annual City Baseball league season during a meeting in the Y. M. C. A., tonight at 8 o'clock.

In calling the session, M. J. Donovan, last year's president and a good bet to repeat again this year, reminded representatives of teams to bring along their $25 franchise fee.

During the meeting, officers will be elected, player contracts will be distributed and a few minor details will be discussed.

To Discuss "Umps"

Moguls also will talk about the umpire situation. Leo Hill, prexy of the strike callers, will be on hand to represent the guys behind the plate.

Donovan stressed the fact that tonight marks the last time any teams can secure a franchise. At present, Elders, Moose, Lawrence Indies, Croton and Shenango Pottery are on the franchise list. Another aggregation would round out one of the strongest leagues to operate here in several seasons.

Opening games are listed for Sunday, May 30.

GIANTS' RALLY TOPS CUBS, 7-4

By JOHN CASHMAN
(International News Service Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, May 14.—The Brooklyn Dodgers and the New York Yankees both head their respective leagues, with thirteen games won and six lost. At the bottom of the National League pile in a tie with Chicago are the New York Giants.

Of the three local teams, however, the Giants are probably the fightingest.

They proved this yesterday by staging a smashing ninth inning rally to whip the Chicago Cubs, 7 to 4. The Giants went into that last frame trailing by three runs, outwardly a beaten lub. But, Mel Ott walked, Ernie Lombardi singled, Babe Barna doubled, scoring Ott. Sid Gordon walloped relief pitcher Herman Wyse for a single, scoring two, Joe Orengo walked, Dick Bartell hit a homer, and that was the end of the ball game.

You can't keep a club in the cellar when they fight like the Giants.

Bucs Raise Uproar

And that was not the only fight of the day. The Pittsburgh Pirates raised such an uproar in the eighth inning of their 5 to 4 loss to the Brooklyn Dodgers that three Bucs were tossed out of the game. The Dodgers were trailing, 4 to 3, when Dixie Walker tripled in the eighth frame. Camilli and Paul Waner fanned, then Billy Herman slapped out a very close single. When Umpire Lee Ballanfant called Herman safe, allowing Walker's tying run, Bucs Manager Frankie Frisch, Pitcher Truett Sewell and El Fletcher roared so mightily they were given their walking papers.

A double by Gene Moore in the twelfth inning gave the Washington Senators a 3 to 2 win over the Cleveland Indians. Washington hurler Ewald Pyle would have had a 1 to 0 victory in nine innings, but Angelo Guiliani let Otto Denning's foul fall behind him with two out

TWO CLEAN HITS NET DOUBLE PLAY

Happens In Piedmont League; Philadephia Phils Duplicate Stunt

The chap who gets up the book of baseball freaks certainly will want to include this one in his next edition.

The Richmond Colts of the Piedmont League turned two clean base hits into a double play in a recent game against the Durham Bulls.

Starting the ninth inning, the first Durham batter singled. The next one crashed out a hit normally good for two bases.

The runner from first rounded second and was well on his way to third when he tripped and fell in a knot. Picking himself up, he started back to second instead of continuing to third. The ball was relayed in from the outfield and the runner was tagged trying to get back to the middle cushion.

Nips Late Rally

Meanwhile, the batter who hit the ball saw the predicament. He had nearly reached second and was retracing his steps to first, but was caught in a run-down and tagged out. Two clean hits and a double play. It nipped a ninth inning rally, for Richmond was leading by only two runs, and Durham should have had the tying counter on second base with none out, but for freak play.

That happens in the big leagues, too. The Phils got two hits against Brooklyn in a recent game and wound up with two out.

Three N. Y. Tracks Want Sulky Races

Governor Dewey Studies Request From Goshen, Westbury And Saratoga

ALBANY, N. Y., May 14—Governor Thomas E. Dewey today considered a request that harness racing be permitted this summer at New York state's three trotting centers, Goshen, Westbury and Saratoga raceway.

Frank L. Wiswall, secretary of the United States Trotting Association asked for a ruling on operation of the tracks. While no immediate decision was announced, it was indicated that the tracks would have to prove there will be no infractions of wartime travel restrictions before permits are granted. The $40,000 Hambletonian stakes, harness racing's Kentucky Derby, is scheduled for Good Time park in Goshen this summer.

Umpires Meet Saturday Night

BUCCOS, INDIANS SUFFER SETBACKS; PHILS IN FOURTH

in the ninth, and Denning singled in the tying run.

The Boston Red Sox scored two runs and a 6 to 4 victory over the St. Louis Browns when Bob Muncrief weakened in the twelfth inning. A walk to Eddie Lake, Dee Mile's sacrifice, singles by Pete Fox and Tony Lupien and Mike Chartak's error gave the Red Sox their winning margin.

Phillies In Fourth

The Philadelphia Phillies advanced to fourth place in the National League standings by splitting a twin bill with the Cincinnati Reds, 2 to 1 and 3 to 1. Babe Dahlgren's single in the ninth, scoring Ron Northey brought the Phils victory in the opening clash. Cincinnati jumped into an early lead in the nightcap and retained it to the end.

Ernie White, of the St. Louis Cardinals, pitched four-hit ball to shut out the Boston Braves, 5 to 0. The Cardinals scored all their runs in the seventh off hurler Charlie Barrett.

It took 13 innings, but the Philadelphia Athletics finally overwhelmed the Detroit Tigers, 2 to 1. The Tigers rounded up 12 hits to the A's 8. Jesse Flores, young pitching sensation, saved the game in a relief role.

There were 25 players on early football teams.

Big Ten Officials Air Grid Problems

Study Schedules, Summer Practice And Eligibility Of Freshmen Athletes

(International News Service)

EVANSTON, Ill., May 14—Three major football problems today confronted athletic directors of the Western Conference and leading military posts and non-conference universities in the middle west at an all-day session in Evanston.

The issues up for discussion were gridiron schedules, summer practice and eligibility of freshmen who will not have attended classes when the season opens in September.

Arrange Schedules

Also on the agenda was the extent and nature of collegiate-service football competition and the rearrangement of schedules to supply more games with Army and Navy teams.

A move to insure reasonably balanced competition was expected where some teams, like the Iowa Hawkeyes, must depend almost entirely on freshmen players while others can draw from post-graduate talent among army and navy trainees.

Football coaches who are sitting in on the session probably will urge the lifting of restrictions on summer practice.

MORE MEETS

Track and field sports competitions this spring will be far more extensive than ever before in American sports history. Army and navy training establishments have programmed events that some authorities estimate will present performances by approximately 150,000 in the "varsity" intra-post competitions and by more than 500,000 in the various "B-team" affairs.

PLUG SOCCER

Royal Netherlands Military Flying school cadets in training at Jackson (Miss.) Army Air Base are arousing interest of Jacksonians in soccer football. The Dutch student fliers' team includes several who starred in Holland before the war.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEEALL

It was our understanding that every one in a community co-operated in the Air Raid Tests . . . that is: each and every home, store and industry. We have found that some industries have not drilled their employees or informed them as to their responsibilities in case there would be a real Air Raid . . . When questioned, the heads of these industries said, yes they had a plan and it was down on paper . . . but they haven't as yet passed on the information to their employees. Now we all pray and hope that nothing the OCD members are practicing today will ever be needed, but, in case an Air Raid should take place every one should have some idea where to go. Practice and explanation is worth the time it takes . . . how about it citizens.

* * *

For a dog just call 2053-M . . . your children will be delighted and these dogs we are told are very fine pets.

* * *

A little boy was taken by his father to visit a family where a new baby was the main object of conversation and observation . . . It was a cute little baby, very small and sweet. The little visiting boy looked the baby over and then with all the seriousness of a small boy he turned to his father and said: "Are ears rationed too Daddy?" . . . babies ears are small and it just goes to show you how the younger generation of America know what it's all about.

Tonight in The Cathedral a very interesting musical program will be presented by the "Southernaires" one of the greatest vocal ensembles heard today on the stage or over the air . . . They are true sons of the south and the songs they will sing this evening will include African Chants, Spirituals and Negro Popular Songs . . . If you haven't already purchased your ticket you may do so this evening at the box office but be early as the concert will start promptly at 8 o'clock.

Farm help is needed . . . the requests from the farmer are coming in each and every day . . . One case that we would like to see helped is one where a woman needs help on an 8 acre farm . . . Her husband is somewhere in the South Pacific with Uncle Sam and his boys . . . her health has been very poor this past winter and she really needs assistance . . . call at 21 South Mill street if you can help. Part time help. Thanks.

SCHOOL DIRECTORS MEET ON THURSDAY

Resignation Of Mrs. Katherine Leibermann Accepted And Other Business Matters

ELLWOOD CITY, May 14.—The resignation of Mrs. Katherine Cooper Leibermann, of Beaver, as a teacher of the Ellwood schools was accepted by the Board of Education at the regular meeting last night. Mrs. Leibermann has been on a leave of absence for the past two years.

Approved for graduation were the following members of the senior class now in the armed forces: Mike D. Carrozza, Thomas D. Crowther, Robert Wayne Hogue, Raymond L. Miller, James C. Reasman, Paul B. Thornhill, William Hollencamp, Chester Lynn, Robert Mackasek, Donald McDevitt, Carl Ottober, Earl Pander, Howard Ruby, Gilbert Stewart and Robert Wallis. Diplomas will be issued for them.

The acceptance of Randall B. Luke as solicitor was received. He takes the place of the late Attorney Charles H. Young.

The teachers will aid with the registration for canning sugar within the next coming week as a part of the county plan of registration. This registration was handled last year by the teachers and was the biggest job they had in the various rationing listings.

The English course of the local high school will be revised and the new plan put into effect next school year. Members of the board were dismayed by a number of paragraphs read by the superintendent from papers written by seniors who will be graduated next week.

As has been reported throughout the country, school students have failed to learn to express themselves in writing and are very careless in following the basic principles of grammar. Instances cited were incomplete sentences, unrelated clauses and phrases, faulty punctuation, poor spelling, etc.

While the definite plan of revision hasn't been decided upon, some plan will be worked out whereby students will be compelled to repeat over and over a course in grammar until they are completely familiar with the main rules of composition, punctuation and sentence construction.

Other business before the board was routine.

SCHOOL TAX RATE RAISED FOR YEAR

Board Increases Millage Rate From 22 To 25 For Ellwood School Purposes

ELLWOOD CITY, May 14 — The ever increasing cost of living was hiked another notch for Ellwood property owners last night when members of the Board of Education in regular session levied the property tax at 25 mills for the school year beginning on July 1. This is an increase of three mills over the present 22 mill levy, which has been in effect for the past ten years. The per capita tax will remain at five dollars per year.

Reasons given by the board for the increase in the levy include the wage adjustment in teachers' salaries, increase in the costs of coal and school supplies; and the bond payments which are high this coming school year and the following one. For the past two years, a cost of living scale of wages for teachers has been followed here. The payment, based on the average salary, has been the same for all teachers. The board points out they have carried this extra load for two years without an increase in taxation.

A bill has been passed by the state legislature which provides an increase in teachers' salaries. While it will be in effect during the coming school year, the local district will not be reimbursed by the state until the end of the year and will need extra money to make the payment. It is understood that the increase by the state will be augmented by the local district to meet the cost of living scale in effect here, if it be higher than the increase granted by the state.

The finance committee offered the following resolution which was unanimously adopted.

The budget for 1943-44 shows estimated receipts of $307,000; and estimated expenditures of $324,166. This would indicate that expenditures for 1943-44 will exceed receipts by about $17,000 to $18,000. The estimated expenditures in the 1942-43 budget were $327,536.50; the expenditures set up in the 1943-44 budget are $324,166.25. Reduction in expenditures is partially due to a reduction of about $12,000 in bond and interest obligations.

The Committee, therefore, offers the following recommendation for the consideration of the Board, whereas, the District is facing more than a $5,000 deficit in the 1942-43 budget, and, whereas, the estimated expenditures for 1943-44 are, approximately, $17,000 more than the estimated receipts. It is recommended that the millage for the tax year 1943-44 be increased from 22 to 25 mills. We, further, recommend that if the same conditions exist at the close of another school year, the millage for 1944-45 be continued at the same rate, namely, 25 mills, but that the following year, 1945-46, it be reduced due to the fact that by that time payments on bonds and interest will have been reduced by about $26,000.

The annual budget was accepted. The greatest amount of proposed expenditures was $215,405 for instructional service. Receipts were based on a proposed 95 per cent collection of 1943 property tax estimated at $167,000, and $31,000 for per capita tax, and various other funds including collection of delinquent tax, state appropriation and tuition of non-resident pupils.
